HAWKS FLIES EAST IN TRY FOR RECORD

Leaves West Coast in Attempt To Beat Lindbergh Cross-Country Mark.

By The Associated Press

GLENDALE, Calif., Aug. 13—Frank Hawks, holder of the east-west trans-continental speed mark for airplanes, took off from Grand Central air terminal at 5:16:27 a. m. (Marion time) today in an effort to better the Pacific-to-Atlantic speed record held by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Driving down the long runway with terrific speed, Hawks' red and white monoplane streaked into the air and disappeared. The plane, capable of making almost 250 miles an hour, has a landing and take-off speed of 90 miles an hour and appeared to be bettering that mark when its wheels left the ground.

Hawks said he hoped to complete his flight in 12 hours, or two hours and 45 minutes quicker than the Lindberghs.

Weather reports indicated good flying conditions for Hawks.

Light cross winds prevailed from here to Albuquerque, but tail winds from four to 25 miles an hour were expected to aid him east of the New Mexico city.

Last week Hawks made a five-stop flight from Curtis field, New York, to the Los Angeles municipal airport in 14 hours, 50 minutes, 43 seconds, setting a new record under poor flying conditions.

Hawks said he planned to stop this trip for fuel at Albuquerque, Wichita, Kas., and Indianapolis, allowing 15 minutes at each place.

Difficulties between Hawks and his former wife, Mrs. Newell Vaugh, over a judgment for $10,000 obtained by the latter, threatened for a time to hold up the record attempt but attorneys affected a temporary settlement.

70 DROWNED

When Launch Is Blown Up by Pirates' Mine.

By International News Service

LONDON, Aug. 12—Seventy persons, most of them women, were drowned today when a mine believed to have been laid by Pirates blew up a large launch bound from Hongkong to Kongmoon, Canton dispatches to evening newspapers reported.

The terrific blast tore a wide gash in the boat, which sank almost immediately. Government investigators were rushed to the scene of the tragedy, but it is doubtful whether much further detail will be available regarding the placing of the mine.

POST REWARDS FOR SLAYERS OF LOCAL MEN

Commissioners Offer $500 Each for Capture of Steele, Schultz Murderers.

SAY SITUATION SERIOUS

Hope To Bring Outside Aid in Apprehension of Band of Gunmen Bandits.

Two rewards of $500 each were posted today by the Marion county board of commissioners for the capture and conviction of the slayers of two Marion men who were killed in holdups here within the last month.

The rewards are being offered for the capture of the slayers of Raymond Steele of Caledonia, who was shot and fataly wounded in the holdup of a North Main street filling station on July 15, and for the capture of the bandits who held up and shot Amos Schultz in his Oak cafe on North Main street on the night of Aug. 8.

With three murders in the county in less than a month, two of which resulted from holdups, members of the board of county commissioners regard the situation as serious.

They are offering the reward in the hope that it will bring outside aid in the effort to trace the killers of Steele and Schultz. It was also stated today that visits of delegations of citizens to the board asking for the offering of rewards for the killers had also been taken into consideration in making the offers.

Action to post the rewards was taken at a short meeting of the board yesterday afternoon and was announced this morning by Chairman O. C. McCurdy.

The third killing here within the last month was the shooting of Haze Ashbrook by Lloyd Beasley in Prospect last Sunday night.

OHIO CONGRESSMEN ARE RENOMINATED

Chalmers of Toledo Only One Voted Out in Primary; Prohibition Issue Involved.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13—Incumbent Ohio congressmen with only one exception apparently have been renominated.

The exception is Congressman W. W. Chalmers of Toledo, ninth district, who was overwhelmingly defeated by Wilbur M. White, editor of the Toledo Times for the Republican nomination. White, running on a platform favoring repeal of national prohibition, piled up a majority of almost 14,000 in the district.

Charles Brand of Urbana, who has represented the seventh district for eight years nosed out his opponent, Judge Harry G. Gram of Springfield, by a slim margin of 2,360 votes, according to returns from all but 18 precincts in the seventh district.

Thompson in Lead

Congressman Charles J. Thompson of Defiance, fifth district, appeared to be an easy winner over three opponents for the Republican nomination. His lead of more than 2,700 over William L. Manahan of Defiance, his closest rival, appeared to be sufficient to counterbalance any adverse majorities that the 24 precincts yet to report might give his opponents. Frank C. Kniffin of Defiance was leading his opponents by apparently safe margin for the Democratic nomination.

Congressman C. C. Kearns of Amelia, sixth district, was an easy winner for the renomination. He was carrying a two to one lead over E. O. McCowen of Portsmouth, his closest opponent. James G. Polk of Hillsboro, was leading Adam Frick of Portsmouth for the Democratic nomination.

Ned C. Thacher of Pickaway county, a World war veteran, was leading C. O. Beals of Pickering, by more than two to one in the eleventh district for the Republican nomination in about two-thirds of the precincts. His nomination appeared certain. Congressman Mell G. Underwood of New Lexington was unopposed for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

Dry Foe Nominated

Democrats nominated a foe of national prohibition, Arthur P. Lamneck of Columbus, to oppose Congressman John C. Speaks, Republican, in the twelfth district. Lamneck, advocating repeal of national prohibition, had a clear majority over his two opponents, Prof. H. Gordon Hayes of Ohio State university, and Attorney Carl H. Valentine. Speaks was unopposed.

Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon, of "Coxey's army" fame, could not make the rifle against Congressman C. B. McClintock of Canton, for renomination. McClintock was carry-

NEW RECORD MADE BY ST. LOUIS FLIERS

Jackson and O'Brine Pass Hunter Endurance Mark; Aim at 1,000 Hours.

(Pictures on Page 13)

By The Associated Press

LAMBERT-ST. LOUIS FIELD, ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 13—The veteran endurance team, Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, flew through rain and the threat of a storm today to a new world's record for sustained flight. They officially regained the record at 10:52 a. m. (Marion time) when they had been up 554 hours and 11 minutes, slightly more than 23 days.

The new mark exceeded by one full hour the record established last July 4 at Chicago by Kenneth and John Hunter, Illinois farm boys who after several attempts had wrested the flight championship from Jackson and O'Brine. The latter pair had set a 120 hours record July 31, 1929.

With the record regained, Jackson and O'Brine had no thought of landing but drove on toward a goal which they now have set at 1,000 hours, or about six weeks.

Crowd Rain Soaked

A downpour of rain deluged the field and soaked the scant crowd of 2,000 persons who had assembled when the record was broken.

As a burst of sirens, aerial bombs, automobile horns and cheers went up, Jackson and O'Brine dropped down low over the field and discharged a green flare. Then they came down to within a few hundred feet of the crowd and waved.

A crowd of about 50 airplane factory workers paraded across the field carrying a banner which read "again Red and Ohio." Factory whistles in industrial St. Louis also heralded the return of the flight record to St. Louis with a chorus of shrieks.

The fliers' monoplane, the Greater St. Louis, a sister ship of the St. Louis Robin in which they set their record last year, appeared to the ob-

PARTY NOTABLES SCORE VICTORIES

Norris Leads in Nebraska Vote Despite Insurgency; Gore, Robinson Win.

By The Associated Press

Leading figures in Tuesday's five state primaries appeared on the basis of the steadily mounting count of ballots today to have safely weathered the test.

Senator George W. Norris, the Nebraska Republican insurgent who supported Alfred E. Smith in 1928, was gaining an increasing lead over William M. Stebbins, candidate of the "regular" faction in the party. Gilbert N. Hitchcock, former senator, apparently was nominated by the Democrats to oppose Norris.

Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader and vice president candidate of 1928, had a lead of more than three to one over Tom W. Campbell in the Arkansas senate race.

Gore Has Large Lead

Thomas P. Gore, blind former senator, had a commanding lead over Charles J. Wrightsman, Tulsa oil man, for the Democratic senate nomination in the Oklahoma run-off primary. William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, was far in front of Frank Buttram, of Oklahoma City, for the gubernatorial nomination.

In Alabama early returns gave John H. Bankhead a considerable lead over Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher, in a senate race marked for its light vote.

Both in Oklahoma and Ohio, the Democratic choices for the senate will contest in the election with Repub-

Pleads Not Guilty to Second Degree Murder Charge in Municipal Court.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

Prisoner Waives Preliminary Examination; Coroner, Sheriff Testify.

A plea of not guilty to the charge of second degree murder was entered by Lloyd Beasley, 32, of Prospect, in municipal court yesterday at 2:30 p. m. when he was arraigned before Judge William R. Martin on a charge of killing Haze Ashbrook, 20, of Columbus Sunday night following an altercation in the Beasley home.

The affidavit to which Beasley pleaded not guilty charged him with "unlawfully and maliciously killing one Haze Ashbrook." He was bound over to the grand jury, which meets on Monday, Sept. 8, on $2,000 bond, which was arranged by his attorneys, William P. Moloney and J. D. Williamson.

Held to Grand Jury

Beasley was bound over to the grand jury when he waived a preliminary hearing which would have been granted him today.

Coroner B. D. Osborn and Sheriff John J. Francis testified at the arraignment yesterday, the former declaring that Ashbrook's death was caused by bullet wounds, and Francis outlining the events leading to the fatal shooting, as they were reported to him.

Attorney John Wiedemann assisted Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen for the state yesterday.

Beasley was charged with the slaying of Ashbrook who had gone to the former's home to see a four-year-old son now in the custody of Mrs. Beasley, former wife of the dead man. An argument over Ashbrook's alleged failure to support the child is said to have led to the shooting.

Ashbrook is reported to have fired the first shot when he saw Beasley following him.

Funeral services for Ashbrook were held this afternoon in Ashley. He was the son of Charles Ashbrook. The father formerly was mayor of Ashley and now is manager of the Ohio State Junior Fair.

Golf Benefits

(Will Rogers Special)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 13—All I know is just what I read in the papers, and that's an alibi for my ignorance.

But today I read where there has been 125 million spent on these "premature golf courses" that's great. While it hasn't helped anybody's golf game, or given anybody any exercise, it's been a wonderful help to labor and the sellers of material, and its benefits have been distributed all over the whole country.

So bring on some more nut ideas if they will do that much good. Yours,

NOMINEES FOR SENATE, COURT ARE CHOSEN

Rohe and Sullivan Win Republican Nomination for General Assembly.

KLINGER IS VICTORIOUS

Sugrue and Bower To Carry Democratic Banner in November.

Although his home county supported him heavily, Attorney William N. Harder of Marion lost in his campaign to win one of the two Republican nominations for state senator from the combined thirteenth and thirty-first districts, at the primary election yesterday.

The state senator race was one of two district contests which affect Marion county, the other being the fight for the Democratic nomination for court of appeals, won by William Klinger of Lima.

Rohe, Sullivan Win

Unofficial totals from the seven counties making up the combined districts give the present state senator Robert L. Rohe of Tiffin, and Dallas Sullivan of Richwood the two nominations, Rohe having 7,102 votes and Sullivan, 6,241. Harder was third with 5,596, and J. H. T. Gordon of Huntsville trailed with 4,251.

Harder polled 2,386 votes in Marion county to 713 for Rohe, 709 for Sullivan and 457 for Gordon, but Rohe ran a steadier race in the district as a whole. Rohe's own county, Seneca, gave him 1,528 votes. Sullivan, likewise, was strong in practically all of the counties, his home county, Union, coming through with 2,753 votes to clinch second place and the nomination.

Charles M. Lukens of Marion took his own county but lost in all the others in his fight for one of the two Democratic nominations for state senator. Ralph Sugrue of Tiffin was first with 5,782 votes and John P. Bower won the second nomination with 5,711 votes. Bruce Gaumer of Marysville was third with 3,831 and Lukens was last with 3,405. Marion county gave Lukens 1,138 votes.

Klinger Wins Court Race

Klinger won the Democratic nomination for the court of appeals, third appellate district, by almost a three to two margin over W. J. Schwenck of Bucyrus, while W. B. Brattain of Paulding county was a poor third. Unofficial totals which included all except 10 precincts in the 16 counties making up the third district, give

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13—Charles Kern, retired bakery executive and his wife, who left St. Louis Monday night supposedly for Toledo, O., carrying a $70,000 bank treasurer's check and who it had been feared had been kidnaped or swindled, returned to their home unexpectedly at 2:45 a. m. today.

Other than to deny they had been kidnaped, the couple refused to talk to reporters or give details of where they were.

The couple did explain, however, that they had been at "a point in Ohio" to visit relatives.

BULKLEY AND PARTY LEADERS TO MEET

Plans for Campaign Expected To Be Discussed at Session Tomorrow.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13—Robert J. Bulkley, who wrote political history in the primary election yesterday when he won the nomination for the United States senate on a wet platform, announced this afternoon that he will confer with Democratic leaders tomorrow in Columbus.

Plans for the forthcoming campaign will probably be outlined, at the conference, it is believed. Some politicians here intimated their belief that a plan may be made to inject a wet plank into the party's state platform.

In a statement issued today, Bulkley said:

"Indications are that I have won the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator by a substantial margin. I am much encouraged by the reports that I have received strong support from all parts of the state. Of course, I am particularly gratified to receive an impressive majority in my own county."

Bulkley attributed his victory to two things—"first, an open statement of my stand for repeal of prohibition, and second, the indorsement of so many leading Democrats."

"The issue between Senator Roscoe McCulloch and myself will be clear," the Democratic nominee stated: "I plan to attack him on prohibition and the tariff.

"Against Senator McCulloch, I think I can win," he added.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13—Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, Republican, and George White of Marietta, Democrat, for governor, and Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton, Republican, and Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, Democrat, for United States senator.

These are the candidates from whom Ohio voters must choose their major officers in November, it was determined today following the state's primary election yesterday.

Governor Cooper and Senator McCulloch had no opposition on the Republican ticket.

Prohibition Issue Seen

That the prohibition issue will be injected into the Ohio election was assured with the nomination of Bulkley. The Clevelander has campaigned on an out and out repeal platform. Senator McCulloch is dry and already has been indorsed by the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio.

But, while Democrats were nominating the wet Bulkley for senator, they turned around and nominated the dry White, thus eliminating any prohibition tinge from the gubernatorial contest. Both White and Cooper are dry. Young, White's opponent, also campaigned as a wet.

Ake Defeated

State Treasurer H. Ross Ake of Canton was turned out by Republicans for the nomination to succeed himself. The defeat of Ake, while it was conceded that he would have a fight on his hands from former State Treasurer Harry S. Day of Fremont, was one of the biggest upsets in the primary. It was believed that he would edge through the nominee.

In 8,703 precincts out of Ohio's total of 8,956 Day received 171,078 votes to Ake's 115,284, while Mrs. Pauline Buckley of Dayton, who campaigned on a platform of vindication for her husband, Bert B. Buckley, former treasurer now serving a term in Atlanta penitentiary, was in third place with 28,-960 votes. This was in 8,611 precincts.

Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown of Manchester had practically no opposition in his quest for the nomination. Brown is seeking a third term in his office and received 321,738 votes to Edward J. Hummel's 61,507 in 8,614 precincts.

Joe Ferguson of Lancaster seemed assured of the Democratic nomination for state treasurer. He had a lead of 24,000 votes over W. V. Goshorn of Galion, his nearest opponent, in 8,610 precincts.

Former Lieut. Gov. William G. Pickrel of Dayton was increasing his lead over Herbert R. Cuyler of Cleveland for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

M. Ray Allison of Urbana was holding his lead over Samuel Burgert of Cleveland for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. In 8,610 precincts Allison's vote was 91,086 and Burgert's 72,227.

Gilbert Bettman, present attorney general and a Republican, was unopposed for renomination.

William P. Stephenson of West Union was assured of one of the Democratic nominations for supreme court judge. Charles Hubbell of Cleveland and Coleman Avery of Cincinnati were fighting for the other nomination with Hubbell having a lead of about 7,000 in 8,610 precincts.

Present Supreme Court Judges Reynolds R. Kinkade of Toledo and James E. Robinson of Marysville were unopposed for the two nominations on the Republican ticket.

John Henry Newman of Columbus was the Democratic candidate for secretary of state. He was unopposed.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, August 13

HOSTILE, adverse and frustrated astral forces are in the ascendant on this day, according to the lunar and mutual configurations. This applies to employment, business transactions and to domestic and artistic activities. Under this direction it will be difficult to make much progress and the best advice is to work along the lines of least resistance, conserving the funds and maintaining harmony and equanimity as far as possible.

Those whose birthday it is are under a forecast of a year of delays and obstructions, with employment in jeopardy and the personal relations carrying a menace of inharmony and disappointment, unless every precaution be taken to shun friction and disturbance. The funds should be preserved from loss and extravagance. The best advice is to plod along with determination and equipoise.

A child born on this day should be given a practical education and one to develop patience, perservance and hopeful resistance toward obstructions. Also frugality should be inculcated.

STATION PERMITS

City Clerk Sylvester Larkin Issues Orders for Buildings

Permits for the construction of filling stations continue to furnish the main item in the building program of the city. Five additional permits for the erection of stations have been recently issued by City Clerk Sylvester Larkin.

Emma Hayden was given permits to build two stations, each to cost $1,000 at 301 South Prospect street and at 412 North Main street. A. C. Edmondson was granted a permit to erect a station at 676 Mt. Vernon avenue to cost $3,000. Erasmia Basacos was given a permit to build a station to cost $2,000 at 123 West Columbia street. Chrispin & Weston were given permission to construct a station at 650 East Church street to cost $3,000.

George H. Uhler took out the only permit for a building other than a filling station. He was given a permit to erect a building for business purposes at 346 East Church street.

Police Arrest Man Found Near Here

Arrested by police while allegedly loitering in the vicinity of the home of C. A. Bolin of 542 Mound street, Clifford Welch of 534 Henry street is lodged in city prison today while authorities investigate the complaint. Welch is said to have been loitering outside the home of Bolin when arrested about 9:30 p. m. yesterday.

Welch admitted, police said today, that a revolver found near the Bolin home belonged to him. He said that he and some friends had bought the weapon recently for the purpose of shooting groundhogs.

Safe Blower Gets 25 Cents for His Trouble

The safe blower who last night blew the door of a safe of the Shell Oil Co. at its station on South Prospect street near the Pennsylvania railroad is probably today lamenting the fact that the company does not make a practice of leaving large amounts of money in the safe at night. After the door had been blown from the safe the burglars were rewarded for their efforts to the extent of 25 cents and some papers, thought to have little value.

WAS MISERABLE UNTIL KONJOLA RELIEVED HIM

Another Victory Over Stubborn Case That Had Resisted Every Medicine Tried.

MR. MILO GUMBERT

Many of the victories scored by Konjola are so remarkable that they might challenge belief were the actual facts not known and verified. Take, for instance, the experience of Mr. Milo Gumbert, 733 Marshall Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, who declares:

"I suffered from stomach and kidney troubles, and was most miserable. Food soured in my stomach, and I had headaches and dizzy spells. Nothing I tried helped me, and I was discouraged. But Konjola triumphed where other treatments failed. My appetite is fine; headaches, backache, and dizzy spells are gone. My kidneys are normal and I feel like a different man. Konjola certainly proved to be a master medicine in my case."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve deadening drugs, no heart depressing chemicals. It needs no such ingredients. It is powerful in the ills of the aged, yet may be given to the infant.

Konjola is sold in Marion, Ohio, at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

CLOSE BATTLE MARKS RACE FOR RECORDER

Unofficial Reports Gives Victory to Markert Over Mrs. McKeever by 17.

FRANCIS LOSES BY 391

[illegible]uer and Smallwood Win Contests for Representative, Treasurer.

(County Vote Totals on Page 14)

Defeat for Sheriff John J. Francis and a nip-and-tuck battle for the Republican nomination for recorder, the final outcome of which has not yet been determined, were the salient features of the primary election in Marion county yesterday.

Francis was beaten for the Republican nomination for sheriff by D. A. Brobst, his strongest rival two years ago. Brobst polled 1,368 votes to 977 for Francis. The figures, as well as all others available today, are unofficial but are expected to be changed but little when the votes are checked over by the election board. The figures are based on all of the 71 precincts in the city and county.

Markert Has Edge

On the face of the unofficial returns, Charles A. Markert barely defeated Mrs. Cora A. McKeever, present recorder, for the Republican nomination for that office for both the short and long terms. The vote for the long term, according to the preliminary figures, was 1,262 for Markert and 1,245 for Mrs. McKeever, and for the short term, 1,255 for Markert and 1,218 for Mrs. McKeever.

Charles Fye was an easy winner of the Democratic nomination for sheriff, polling 1,335 votes to 354 for his nearest opponent, Arthur A. Huffman. R. G. Smallwood, city councilman-at-large, scored a similar triumph for the Democratic nomination for treasurer by rolling up 1,369 votes to 725 for E. F. Tittelbaugh, his opponent, while Clarence O. Hart won the Democratic nomination for recorder. Hart had 1,330 votes to 957 for F. Harland LeMasters, his opponent.

George White of Marietta was the Democratic party's choice in Marion county as its standard bearer in the coming fall campaign. He holds a

Primary Vote Cost Slumps to 75 Cents Each Person

COST of votes cast in yesterday's primary in Marion county was approximately 75 cents each, election board officials announced today.

The total expense of the election in the county was $4,400, according to Bud Lawson, clerk of the board. Number of votes cast was more than 5,730.

The greater part of the expense is the salaries paid to the 426 precinct judges and clerks, while other expenses include the cost of printing ballots and miscellaneous expenditures.

The vote cost this year was much lower than in previous years when the county in many instances paid as much as $3 for each person visiting the polls.

HAWKS FLIES EAST IN TRY FOR RECORD

Leaves West Coast in Attempt To Beat Lindbergh Cross-Country Mark.

By The Associated Press

GLENDALE, Calif., Aug. 13—Frank Hawks, holder of the east-west trans-continental speed mark for airplanes, took off from Grand Central air terminal at 5:16:27 a. m. (Marion time) today in an effort to better the Pacific-to-Atlantic speed record held by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Driving down the long runway with terrific speed, Hawks' red and white monoplane streaked into the air and disappeared. The plane, capable of making almost 250 miles an hour, has a landing and take-off speed of 90 miles an hour and appeared to be bettering that mark when its wheels left the ground.

Hawks said he hoped to complete his flight in 12 hours, or two hours and 45 minutes quicker than the Lindberghs.

Weather reports indicated good flying conditions for Hawks.

Light cross winds prevailed from here to Albuquerque, but tail winds from four to 25 miles an hour were expected to aid him east of the New Mexico city.

Last week Hawks made a five-stop flight from Curtis field, New York, to the Los Angeles municipal airport in 14 hours, 50 minutes, 43 seconds, setting a new record under poor flying conditions.

Hawks said he planned to stop this trip for fuel at Albuquerque, Wichita, Kas., and Indianapolis, allowing 15 minutes at each place.

Difficulties between Hawks and his former wife, Mrs. Newell Vaugh, over a judgment for $10,000 obtained by the latter, threatened for a time to hold up the record attempt but attorneys affected a temporary settlement.

70 DROWNED

By International News Service

LONDON, Aug. 12—Seventy persons, most of them women, were drowned today when a mine believed to have been laid by Pirates blew up a large launch bound from Hongkong to Kongmoon, Canton dispatches to evening newspapers reported.

The terrific blast tore a wide gash in the boat, which sank almost immediately. Government investigators were rushed to the scene of the tragedy, but it is doubtful whether much further detail will be available regarding the placing of the mine.

POST REWARDS FOR SLAYERS OF LOCAL MEN

Commissioners Offer $500 Each for Capture of Steele, Schultz Murderers.

SAY SITUATION SERIOUS

Hope To Bring Outside Aid in Apprehension of Band of Gunmen Bandits.

Two rewards of $500 each were posted today by the Marion county board of commissioners for the capture and conviction of the slayers of two Marion men who were killed in holdups here within the last month.

The rewards are being offered for the capture of the slayers of Raymond Steele of Caledonia, who was shot and fataly wounded in the holdup of a North Main street filling station on July 15, and for the capture of the bandits who held up and shot Amos Schultz in his Oak cafe on North Main street on the night of Aug. 8.

With three murders in the county in less than a month, two of which resulted from holdups, members of the board of county commissioners regard the situation as serious.

They are offering the reward in the hope that it will bring outside aid in the effort to trace the killers of Steele and Schultz. It was also stated today that visits of delegations of citizens to the board asking for the offering of rewards for the killers had also been taken into consideration in making the offers.

Action to post the rewards was taken at a short meeting of the board yesterday afternoon and was announced this morning by Chairman O. C. McCurdy.

The third killing here within the last month was the shooting of Haze Ashbrook by Lloyd Bensley in Prospect last Sunday night.

OHIO CONGRESSMEN ARE RENOMINATED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13—Incumbent Ohio congressmen with only one exception apparently have been renominated.

The exception is Congressman W. W. Chalmers of Toledo, ninth district, who was overwhelmingly defeated by Wilbur M. White, editor of the Toledo Times for the Republican nomination. White, running on a platform favoring repeal of national prohibition, piled up a majority of almost 14,000 in the district.

Charles Brand of Urbana, who has represented the seventh district for eight years nosed out his opponent, Judge Harry G. Gram of Springfield, by a slim margin of 2,366 votes, according to returns from all but 18 precincts in the seventh district.

Thompson in Lead

Congressman Charles J. Thompson of Defiance, fifth district, appeared to be an easy winner over three opponents for the Republican nomination. His lead of more than 2,700 over William L. Manahan of Defiance, his closest rival, appeared to be sufficient to counterbalance any adverse majorities that the 24 precincts yet to report might give his opponents. Frank C. Kniffin of Defiance was leading his opponnets by apparently safe margin for the Democratic nomination.

Congressman C. C. Kearns of Amelia, sixth district, was an easy winner for the renomination. He was carrying a two to one lead over E. O. McCowen of Portsmouth, his closest opponent. James G. Polk of Hillsboro, was leading Adam Frick of Portsmouth for the Democratic nomination.

Ned C. Thacher of Pickaway county, a World war veteran, was leading C. O. Beals of Pickering, by more than two to one in the eleventh district for the Republican nomination in about two-thirds of the precincts. His nomination appeared certain. Congressman Mell G. Underwood of New Lexington was unopposed for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

Dry Foe Nominated

Democrats nominated a foe of national prohibition, Arthur P. Lamneck of Columbus, to oppose Congressman John C. Speaks, Republican, in the twelfth district. Lamneck, advocating repeal of national prohibition, had a clear majority over his two opponents, Prof. H. Gordon Hayes of Ohio State university, and Attorney Carl H. Valentine. Speaks was unopposed.

Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon, of "Coxey's army" fame, could not make the riffle against Congressman C. B. McClintock of Canton, for renomination. McClintock was carry-

NEW RECORD MADE BY ST. LOUIS FLIERS

Jackson and O'Brine Pass Hunter Endurance Mark; Aim at 1,000 Hours.

By The Associated Press

LAMBERT-ST. LOUIS FIELD, ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 13—The veteran endurance team, Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, flew through rain and the threat of a storm today to a new world's record for sustained flight. They officially regained the record at 10:52 a. m. (Marion time) when they had been up 554 hours and 41 minutes, slightly more than 23 days.

The new mark exceeded by one full hour the record established last July 4 at Chicago by Kenneth and John Hunter, Illinois farm boys who after several attempts had wrested the flight championship from Jackson and O'Brine. The latter pair had set a 420 hours record July 31, 1929.

With the record regained, Jackson and O'Brine had no thought of landing but drove on toward a goal which they now have set at 1,000 hours, or about six weeks.

Crowd Rain Soaked

A downpour of rain deluged the field and soaked the scant crowd of 2,000 persons who had assembled when the record was broken.

As a burst of sirens, aerial bombs, automobile horns and cheers went up, Jackson and O'Brine dropped down low over the field and discharged a green flare. Then they came down to within a few hundred feet of the crowd and waved.

A crowd of about 50 airplane factory workers paraded across the field carrying a banner which read "again Red and Obie." Factory whistles in industrial St. Louis also heralded the return of the flight record to St. Louis with a chorus of shrieks.

The fliers' monoplane, the Greater St. Louis, a sister ship of the St. Louis Robin in which they set their record last year, appeared to the ob-

PARTY NOTABLES SCORE VICTORIES

By The Associated Press

Leading figures in Tuesday's five state primaries appeared on the basis of the steadily mounting count of ballots today to have safely weathered the test.

Senator George W. Norris, the Nebraska Republican insurgent who supported Alfred E. Smith in 1928, was gaining an increasing lead over William M. Stebbins, candidate of the "regular" faction in the party. Gilbert N. Hitchcock, former senator, apparently was nominated by the Democrats to oppose Norris.

Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader and vice president candidate of 1928, had a lead of more than three to one over Tom W. Campbell in the Arkansas senate race.

Gore Has Large Lead

Thomas P. Gore, blind former senator, had a commanding lead over Charles J. Wrightsman, Tulsa oil man, for the Democratic senate nomination in the Oklahoma run-off primary. William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, was far in front of Frank Buttram, of Oklahoma City, for the gubernatorial nomination.

In Alabama early returns gave John H. Bankhead a considerable lead over Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher, in a senate race noted for its light vote.

NOMINEES FOR SENATE, COURT ARE CHOSEN

Rohe and Sullivan Win Republican Nomination for General Assembly.

KLINGER IS VICTORIOUS

Sugrue and Bower To Carry Democratic Banner in November.

Although his home county supported him heavily, Attorney William N. Harder of Marion lost in his campaign to win one of the two Republican nominations for state senator from the combined thirteenth and thirty-first districts, at the primary election yesterday.

The state senator race was one of two district contests which affect Marion county, the other being the fight for the Democratic nomination for court of appeals, won by William Klinger of Lima.

Rohe, Sullivan Win

Unofficial totals from the seven counties making up the combined districts give the present state senator Robert L. Rohe of Tiffin, and Dallas Sullivan of Richwood the two nominations, Rohe having 7,162 votes and Sullivan, 6,241. Harder was third with 5,596, and J. H. T. Gordon of Huntsville trailed with 4,231.

Harder polled 2,386 votes in Marion county to 715 for Rohe, 709 for Sullivan and 437 for Gordon, but Rohe ran a steadier race in the district as a whole. Rohe's own county, Seneca, gave him 1,528 votes. Sullivan, likewise, was strong in practically all of the counties, his home county, Union, coming through with 2,753 votes to clinch second place and the nomination.

Charles E. Lukens of Marion took his own county but lost in all the others in his fight for one of the two Democratic nominations for state senator, Ralph Sugrue of Tiffin was first with 5,782 votes and John P. Bower won the second nomination with 5,711 votes. Bruce Gaumer of Marysville was third with 3,831 and Lukens was last with 3,405. Marion county gave Lukens 1,138 votes.

Klinger Wins Court Race

Klinger won the Democratic nomination for the court of appeals, third appellate district, by almost a three to two margin over W. J. Schweinck of Bucyrus, while W. B. Brattain of Paulding county was a poor third. Unofficial totals which included all except 10 precincts in the 16 counties making up the third district, give

BENSLEY FREE ON $2,000 BOND

Pleads Not Guilty to Second Degree Murder Charge in Municipal Court.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

Prisoner Waives Preliminary Examination; Coroner, Sheriff Testify.

A plea of not guilty to the charge of second degree murder was entered by Lloyd Bensley, 32, of Prospect, in municipal court yesterday at 2:30 p. m. when he was arraigned before Judge William R. Martin on a charge of killing Haze Ashbrook, 29, of Columbus Sunday night following an altercation in the Bensley home.

The affidavit to which Bensley pleaded not guilty charged him with "unlawfully and maliciously killing one Haze Ashbrook." He was bound over to the grand jury, which meets on Monday, Sept. 8, on $2,000 bond, which was arranged by his attorneys, William P. Moloney and J. D. Williamson.

Held to Grand Jury

Bensley was bound over to the grand jury when he waived a preliminary hearing which would have been granted him today.

Coroner B. D. Osborn and Sheriff John J. Francis testified at the arraignment yesterday, the former declaring that Ashbrook's death was caused by bullet wounds, and Francis outlining the events leading to the fatal shooting, as they were reported to him.

Attorney John Wiedemann assisted Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen for the state yesterday.

Bensley was charged with the slaying of Ashbrook who had gone to the former's home to see a four-year-old son now in the custody of Mrs. Bensley, former wife of the dead man. An argument over Ashbrook's alleged failure to support the child is said to have led to the shooting.

Ashbrook is reported to have fired the first shot when he saw Bensley following him.

Funeral services for Ashbrook were held this afternoon in Ashley. He was the son of Charles Ashbrook. The father formerly was mayor of Ashley and now is manager of the Ohio State Junior Fair.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13—Charles Kern, retired bakery executive and his wife, who left St. Louis Monday night supposedly for Toledo, O., carrying a $70,000 bank treasurer's check and who it had been feared had been kidnaped or swindled, returned to their home unexpectedly at 2:45 a. m. today.

Other than to deny they had been kidnaped, the couple refused to talk to reporters or give details of where they were.

The couple did explain, however, that they had been at "a point in Ohio" to visit relatives.

BULKLEY AND PARTY LEADERS TO MEET

Plans for Campaign Expected To Be Discussed at Session Tomorrow.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13—Robert J. Bulkley, who wrote political history in the primary election yesterday when he won the nomination for the United States senate on a wet platform, announced this afternoon that he will confer with Democratic leaders tomorrow in Columbus.

Plans for the forthcoming campaign will probably be outlined at the conference, it is believed. Some politicians here intimated their belief that a plan may be made to inject a wet plank into the party's state platform.

In a statement issued today, Bulkley said:

"Indications are that I have won the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator by a substantial margin. I am much encouraged by the reports that I have received strong support from all parts of the state. Of course, I am particularly gratified to receive an impressive majority in my own county."

Bulkley attributed his victory to two things—"first, an open statement of my stand for repeal of prohibition, and second, the indorsement of so many leading Democrats."

"The issue between Senator Roscoe McCulloch and myself will be clear," the Democratic nominee stated. "I plan to attack him on prohibition and the tariff.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13—Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, Republican, and George White of Marietta, Democrat, for governor, and Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton, Republican, and Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, Democrat, for United States senator.

These are the candidates from whom Ohio voters must choose their major officers in November, it was determined today following the state's primary election yesterday.

Governor Cooper and Senator McCulloch had no opposition on the Republican ticket.

Prohibition Issue Seen

That the prohibition issue will be injected into the Ohio election was assured with the nomination of Bulkley. The Clevelander has campaigned on an out and out repeal platform. Senator McCulloch is dry and already has been indorsed by the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio.

But, while Democrats were nominating the wet Bulkley for senator, they turned around and nominated the dry White, thus eliminating any prohibition tinge from the gubernatorial contest. Both White and Cooper are dry. Young, White's opponent, also campaigned as a wet.

Ake Defeated

State Treasurer H. Ross Ake of Canton was turned out by Republicans for the nomination to succeed himself. The defeat of Ake, while it was conceded that he would have a fight on his hands from former State Treasurer Harry S. Day of Fremont, was one of the biggest upsets in the primary. It was believed that he would edge through the nominee.

In 8,703 precincts out of Ohio's total of 8,956 Day received 171,078 votes to Ake's 115,284, while Mrs. Pauline Buckley of Dayton, who campaigned on a platform of vindication for her husband, Bert B. Buckley, former treasurer now serving a term in Atlanta penitentiary, was in third place with 95,900 votes. This was in 8,614 precincts.

Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester had practically no opposition in his quest for the nomination. Brown is seeking a third term in his office and received 321,798 votes to Edward J. Hummel's 84,897 in 8,614 precincts.

Joe Ferguson of Lancaster was assured of the Democratic nomination for state treasurer. He had a lead of 24,000 votes over W. Y. Gosborn of Galion, his nearest opponent, in 8,610 precincts.

Former Lieut. Gov. William G. Pickrel of Dayton was increasing his lead over Herbert R. Coyle of Cleveland for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

M. Ray Allison of Urbana, was holding his lead over Samuel Burgert of Cleveland for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. In 8,610 precincts Allison's vote was 91,096 and Burgert's 72,227.

Gilbert Bettman, present attorney general and a Republican, was unopposed for renomination.

William F. Stephenson of West Union was assured of one of the Democratic nominations for supreme court judge. Charles Hubbell of Cleveland and Coleman Avery of Cincinnati were fighting for the other nomination with Hubbell having a lead of about 1,000 in 8,600 precincts.

BONDSMEN IN COURT AGAIN

Ask Remission of Judgment for $25,750 After Bank Bandit Is Caught.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug. 13—Application for remission of a judgment for $25,750 held by the state against H. N. Oberlander and George Rinsel, bondsmen for Wilbur Hand, now serving a 12 to 25 year term in the penitentiary for complicity in the Galion bank robbery was filed in common pleas court here Tuesday.

A further request was made in the petition that, if the court does not release the bondsmen from the judgment, that the judgment be reduced to $1050, the amount allegedly actually spent in the apprehension and incarceration of the bandit.

A judgment holding the men for the full amount was recently obtained by Prosecutor J. D. Sears in the supreme court where the case was taken from the court of appeals after the bond was ordered paid in the local court. That the property of the two bondsmen will be levied upon unless the bond is paid was indicated recently by Sears.

Motion to quash the application for remission was filed by Prosecutor Sears for the reason that the cause in which so called application was filed and said summons was issued is fully determined and that a final order in said cause has been entered upon the journal of the court; that the same is not subject to review on appeal and that there is no authority for maintaining any action against Ohio or for the court to grant any relief to the applicants against the State.

FIGHTS USE OF LAND FOR DUMP GROUNDS

Woman Sues City and Owner of Property, Asking Temporary Injunction.

Special To The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 13—A petition asking for a temporary injunction restraining the Mt. Gilead council and Mrs. Lettie L. Caris from continuing the use of Mrs. Caris' property as a city dumping ground has been filed in the common pleas court by Benjamin Olds, local attorney representing Nellie Teeple.

It is alleged that the grounds—about 10 acres—are a menace to nearby property owners and residents as the use of the grounds is a serious fire hazard and subjects many persons to danger of infection. The temporary injunction is asked until a hearing is held to determine whether the restraining order will be made permanent.

The council has considered the question of purchasing the land which is now leased yearly. No decision has been reached. It is reported that Mrs. Caris offered to sell it to the city for $1,000.

FIGHT ACTION ON PROPERTY

Schaaff's Carry Condemnation Proceedings to Common Pleas Court.

Special To The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 13—In a petition alleging nine errors Benjamin Olds and Judge E. M. Wickham of Delaware asks the Morrow county common pleas court to reverse the judgment in a suit tried in the probate court of Judge Ethel Elder in which Wesley Schaaf and Edna G. Schaaf, his sister, were awarded $6[illegible] damages and compensation as the result of the action of the state highway in condemning land at Schaaf corners.

The petition was filed when Judge Elder overruled a motion for a new trial in the probate court. The attorneys for the Schaafs claim that the court erred in admitting certain evidence and excluding other evidence used in charging the jury with special charges requested by the department attorneys before the argument of the case.

No action has yet been taken by Judge Vaughan.

Noisy Milkmen Under Attack at Evanston

By The Associated Press

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 13—The milkmen's racket (old definition) is receiving the attention of Evanston's city fathers.

At the suggestion of Alderman Charles B. Fullerton, the judiciary committee of the city council is seeking ways and means of curbing the early morning clatter of the milkmen. Among other things they are looking into the legality of a proposed ordinance to require rubber tires on all milk wagons.

LITTLE STORIES OF FAST SUCCESSES [NUMBER FOURTEEN] RAMON NOVARRO

His Spanish forebears conquered Mexico . . . won the country in ten brief years. But Ramon alone conquered America, conquered Europe, and all points east . . . in scarcely more than a camera's flicker.

For Ramon gave the world a thrill!

And that's the tale of another young conqueror, OLD GOLD cigarettes. New England surrendered in just two months. "You win, OLD GOLD!" said the Middle West. From coast-to-coast the victory spread. And in just one year, OLD GOLD became the country's fastest growing cigarette.

Because OLD GOLD, like Novarro, offered the world a brand new thrill. Finer tobaccos gave a mellower taste. Better tobaccos ended throat-scratch.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, August 14

A LIVELY and eventful day may be prepared for, albeit it will unfold some obstructions of new undertakings and the financial prospects will need much fortification and wise management. Much brilliant initiative is shown, with advancement and probable preferment of favors from those in authority or superiors. There may be a sudden and far reaching change, but this will call for utmost discretion and consideration, lest it prove decidely to the disadvantage. Peculiar situations are liable to tax the ingenuity.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden and quite unforseen circumstances, with change or travel and new environment. But employment carries fine prospects of promotion or preferment from those in authority. The finances are critically aspect and new ventures are not encouraged. However, the mind may be shrewd and the initiative keen and highly stimulated to attain success. A child born on this day will be brilliant, enterprising and versatile, but disposed to take long chances. Employment should be its forte.

FOR RECORDER POST

Clarence O. Hart, Democrat, above and Charles E. Markert, Republican, below, will soon engage in a battle for election to the office of county recorder as a result of having received the nomination at yesterday's primaries.

Lina Basquette Makes Attempt To End Life

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 13—Lina Basquette, stage and film actress and widow of Sam Warner, motion picture executive, was treated for a slight case of poisoning at the receiving hospital here last night after police said she admitted a suicide attempt.

Miss Basquette was registered at the hospital as "Eleanor Copeland" but later admitted her identity, police said, after her maid, Irene Zastro, had broken down under questioning and given her employer's true name.

Police surgeons found the actress had not been seriously poisoned and later released her to her personal physician and allowed her to go home. They said she told them her act was prompted by her failure to obtain the custody of her four-year-old daughter, Lita Warner. The child was adopted by a brother of Sam Warner following the latter's death.

MASCHKE HIT BY DEFEAT IN PRIMARY

Cleveland G. O. P. Leader's Choice for Prosecutor Loses Hard Fight.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 12 — Maurice Maschke, Ohio's Republican national committeeman, today occupied the analogous position of representing his state in national party councils while apparently commanding a minority following in his home county.

Maschke, for years titular head of the Cuyahoga county Republican organization and a power in state politics, saw the man he had indorsed for county prosecutor, George B. Harris, go down to defeat in yesterday's primary before the "lone hand" campaign of Arthur H. Day, who also was the Republican nominee two years ago, that time, however, with the support of Maschke.

The outcome of the contest was regarded by observers as a criterion of Maschke's standing with the rank and file of voters. Day, after being cut off from organization support with Maschke's early campaign pronouncement in favor of Harris, made his campaign an outright anti-organization fight. He also bucked the opposition of the county bar association, which threw its official endorsement to Harris.

No statement was forthcoming from Maschke as to his reaction to Harris defeat. He did not follow tabulations at party headquarters last night, and could not be reached for an interview either in person or by telephone. Day and other party leaders did not say whether they considered that the Harris reversal called for a new deal in county leadership.

A new pleasant way to remove loose Dandruff

Listerine shampoo usually gets results in 3 days— and cools itching scalp

NOW thousands are hailing the wonderful results obtained by full strength Listerine used in connection with the shampoo.

Ordinary loose dandruff is often removed in three days or less—sometimes in one treatment. Inflamed conditions of the scalp which cause itching and burning are relieved almost instantly. The entire scalp is made cleaner, healthier, and more vigorous after only a few applications. We have hundreds of unsolicited letters testifying to Listerine's success against dandruff.

If you have loose dandruff—if your scalp itches, feels uncomfortable or shows any evidence of inflammation, try Listerine and see how quickly you note improvement.

Dandruff is drying sebum forced out by over-active fat glands surrounding the hair roots. This over-activity, many dermatologists claim, is the result of infection.

Listerine used full strength dissolves and removes the sebum, and if infection is present attacks it. You know it is a safe though powerful germicide.* Simply douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously with the fingertips, repeating the treatment until dandruff has disappeared. A little olive oil may be used if the scalp is excessively dry. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

*Though safe to use in any body cavity, full strength Listerine kills even the Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in counts ranging to 200,000,000 in 15 seconds (fastest time accurately recorded by science).

Listerine THE SAFE ANTISEPTIC

kills 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds

(fastest killing time yet recorded by science)

Brobst, Fye Nominated

two to one lead in the unofficial tabulation over Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, his rival, the unofficial totals being 1,613 for White and 883 for Young. William G. Pickrel of Dayton was easily the party's pick for White's running mate as lieutenant governor. He polled 1,634 votes to 721 for Herbert R. Cuyler, the only candidate opposing him.

Francis' defeat in the primaries was perhaps the outstanding feature of the county contests. While Brobst was expected to give the present sheriff a stiff battle all the way, his victory was comparatively assured when the first precincts began to come in. Brobst held a small lead at the outset, but the lead gradually increased as the night wore on and when 50 of the 71 precincts were in his victory was conceded.

Theodore E. Brownlee was the only other Republican candidate for sheriff who was in the running at all. He rolled up 623 votes, while Verne O. Day and C. Roy Rice polled respective votes of 309 and 272.

Fye walked away with the Democratic nomination, his margin being only a few votes short of 1,000 over Huffman. William Phelps was a close third to Huffman with 339, and Millard Baldwin was next with 310.

George W. Smith and Earl A. DeBolt were never in the running from the time the first precincts were tabulated, their totals being only 221 and 168.

Bernard J. Straw and J. A. Wilkins, opponents of Markert and Mrs. McKeever for the Republican nomination for recorder, were far below the leaders. Straw polled only 405 votes and Wilkins 343 for the long term, their short term totals being similar. They were 414 and 356, respectively.

Dr. Kenneth Smith won the Democratic nomination for coroner over Dr. J. M. Ruckman of LaRue, a last-minute candidate, according to election board officials. Tabulation of the vote for this office had not been completed today.

Leads in County

Mrs. McKeever held nearly a 200-vote advantage in the county districts, but Markert, the apparently successful Republican candidate for recorder, polled better in the city where a margin of approximately 225 votes put him in front.

Brobst's victory over Francis was not due to any special districts but appeared to be general. In the city he rolled up 1,006 votes to 697 for Francis, while in the rural districts he counted 362 votes to 280 for the present sheriff.

Edward F. Lauer of Prospect was the choice of the Democrats as their candidate for state representative from Marion county. Lauer polled 1,756 votes to 548 for Luke Finnegan of Marion. Horace Cookston, present representative, running unopposed, was credited with 2,779 votes.

Other county candidates running unopposed received the following votes: Bert J. Shelton, Republican, treasurer, 3,010; Alfred Donithen, Republican, prosecuting attorney, 2,702; Russell M. Wilhelm, Democrat, prosecuting attorney, 2,029; Earl A. Thomas, Republican, auditor, 3,026; Elmer E. Parish, Democrat, auditor, 2,232; O. C. McCurdy, Republican, county commissioner, 2,903; Frank Spicer, Democrat, county commissioner, 2,188, and Dr. John W. Bull, Republican, coroner, 2,731.

OHIO BOARD ORDERS FREIGHT RATES CUT

Reduction on Farm Products Is Provided for Relief of Drouth Areas.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13—All railroads subject to the jurisdiction of the Ohio public utilities commission were ordered to reduce their freight rates on livestock, feeds and water to and from the stricken drouth areas of the state by the commission at its regular session here today.

The order provided that the reduced rates are authorized to expire Oct. 31. The order was approved by Governor Myers Y. Cooper.

The order, which was issued by the commission, stated that a prolonged drouth exists generally throughout the state and that the order was issued because immediate relief measures are necessary in many sections to avoid loss of livestock and to prevent general suffering in all parts of the state.

Many of the railroads, it was said, have expressed willingness to publish reduced freight rates for the transportaion of livestock, feeds, water and of any other article of traffic which may be found necessary.

STEEL MERGER TRIAL AGAIN POSTPONED

Difficulties Over Wick Will Causes Adjournment Until Monday.

By International News Service

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 13—Difficulties arising over the will of the late Myron C. Wick, co-plaintiff in the suit to enjoin the merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation today had resulted in the third adjournment of the trial since it began seven weeks ago.

Judge David G. Jenkins, following a conference with attorneys for both sides in the suit, adjourned the trial until next Monday, when one of the witnesses to the Wick will was reported to be on a vacation in Canada.

The Wick will was filed in Mahoning county probate court here yesterday, but the hearing to qualify the four executors to continue the merger suit was postponed until Friday because of the absence of the witness and Wick's two minor children who now are said to be in New York.

Tuesday's Primary In Marion County Turns Up Interesting Sidelights

Election Officials Say Vote Here About 30 Per Cent of Registration.

Approximately 30 per cent of those registered in the city and county voted yesterday, according to C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk. The vote cast for governor totaled 5,730 in the two parties, which is taken by election board officials as the unofficial total vote.

The county's biggest primary vote was recorded in the presidential battle of 1928 when more than 9,000 people went to the polls. Later 18,000 voted at the general election. The normal primary vote is placed at approximately 5,000, while the normal election vote is in the neighborhood of 15,000, Ritzler said.

City voters turned out in larger numbers yesterday than did those in the villages and rural precincts, the balloting showed.

Precinct C of the third ward was the first to make its official report last night. Boxes containing the tally sheets were opened at the election headquarters on East Center street at 8:15 p. m., an hour and 45 minutes after the polls had closed.

* * *

Numerous precincts began telephoning unofficial summaries at 7:30 p. m. for the election board's use in making a preliminary report to Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, who is the state election chief. These preliminary reports from every county in the state were used in broadcasting election returns over radio stations WLW and WAIU.

* * *

Congressman Grant E. Mouser, Jr., has one friend in Marion county who thought he was a candidate for the court of appeals bench, for one voter wrote Mouser's name in that space and placed an "X" before it. Judge Charles L. Justice of Marion, whose term does not expire for some time, also received a vote for renomination from someone who thought his name had been overlooked when the ballots were printed.

One Precinct Unable To Send Ballots When Wax and Candles Melt.

Election officials in Scott township weren't able to seal their reports last night when they completed their tabulations, for their sealing wax, as well as tallow candles, were melted into a useless mass. The supplies, including the wax and candles, had been placed over a group of 75-watt electric bulbs which were accidentally turned on. The heat thrown off from the bulbs was too much for the wax.

Candidates whose names were not printed on the ballots but instead were written in, were counted by election officials when they did not carry the customary "X." This was in accordance with a recent ruling from Secretary of State Brown who declared that a name written on a ballot clearly indicated the voter's desire to vote for that person and as a result it should be counted.

Charles A. Markert, the apparent winner of the Republican nomination for recorder, lost one vote when one confused elector wrote his name in as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

Several hundred persons attended the Star's election party held in the newspaper's auditorium, while scores of others crowded into the outer room at election headquarters to get the results as they were chalked up on large blackboards.

That voting for unexpired and regular terms for various offices is confusing to many voters is indicated in the votes cast for recorder. The logical thing to do is to vote for the same person for both terms, but seldom, if ever, did any precinct turn in the same number of votes for both terms.

* * *

The first 30 of the 71 precincts gave a good indication of the trend the election was taking. Brobst, winning Republican sheriff candidate, led Francis, 611 to 474; Markert held a lead over Mrs. McKeever for the Republican nomination for recorder, and Fye was far in the lead for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

NURSES ADOPT NEW UNIFORMS

Discussion of Monthly Report of Red Cross Taken Up at Meeting.

The adoption of a new style of uniform for the nurses of the city health service and the Red Cross nursing service, and the discussion of the monthly report of the two divisions occupied members of the local Red Cross board at its meeting last night in the Red Cross offices.

The board voted to adopt a nurses uniform consisting of a navy blue chinchilla coat and a navy blue felt hat. The coats and hats are to have the official Red Cross insignia on them. It is expected that the three nurses of the department will have the new uniforms by Septmber 1.

The report of the month of July, presented to the Red Cross board by Florence Spaulding, head nurse of the Red Cross service, reveals the following statistics concerning nursing service given by the department during the month: 89 cases of service to ex-service men, 25 to civilians, a total of 114 cases. Twenty-five persons of various ages were given life saving instruction at Crystal Lake park under the direction of a volunteer Red Cross life saving instructor. There were 138 office calls during the month and 18 home visits.

During the vacation periods of two members of the nursing staff Miss Mildred Edwards and Mrs. F. T. Jackman gave volunteer service to the department.

Plans were made during the month for a change in the maternity nursing service which, it is expected, will cause a wider use of the service by the public. A leaflet containing information relative to the change is being printed for distribution in the near future.

servers and the ground crew to be functioning perfectly.

The wives of the fliers were among those who stood in the rain to watch the record broken. They were showered with congratulations.

The din of noise continued about twenty minutes.

It appeared that Jackson and O'Brine were attempting to speak to the crowd over their short wave length transmitter, but apparently the rainstorm interfered as they were not heard.

Huge Mileage Figure

The ground crew estimated last night that the propeller of the endurance plane had revolved more than 44,000,000 times, that the plane had traveled 33,000 miles and that the valves had opened and closed 21,000,000 times. In the three weeks and two days aloft the plane had used 4,980 gallons of gasoline and 220 gallons of oil.

Jackson and O'Brine were still planning to remain in the air 1,000 hours, so long that the next aspirants will be discouraged by merely thinking about those 60,000 weary, grinding minutes between them and the record.

Public interest in the flight, meager at first, has increased greatly in the last few days. More than 10,000 persons were at the field yesterday, and a much larger crowd was expected today.

The only thing that apparently is causing Jackson and O'Brine any worry is the weather. Until a few days ago the torrid heat caused them considerable annoyance, and the last few days they have complained of the cold.

ing the district by more than two to one majority. William R. Thom of Canton, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Prof. Charles West of Denison university was an easy winner over Emmett Gutherie of Coshocton, for the right to oppose Congressman William M. Morgan, Republican, in the seventeenth district. With less than 50 precincts to report, West's majority was almost 5,000. Morgan was unopposed.

Cooper Wins Easily

Congressman John G. Cooper of Youngstown had little difficulty in defeating J. Ralph Seidner, Youngstown, for renomination. His majority in 430 of the district's 534 precincts was almost 13,000. Cooper will be opposed in November by W. B. Kilpatrick, Democrat, of Warren.

Congressman Robert Crosser of Cleveland, twenty-first district, was renominated over Dan W. Spelman. He will oppose State Senator George H. Bender, unopposed nominee in the November election.

Scott Stahl of Toledo won over William P. Clark in the ninth district for the Democratic nomination by about 400 votes. Stahl, a wet, will opopse White in November.

There were no other congressional contests.

President May Take Short Trip to West

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—President Hoover definitely has abandoned plans for a trip this summer to the national parks of the Rocky Mountains, but the idea of a western trip before congress convenes in December has not vanished entirely from his mind.

In announcing cancellation of the trip because of his intention to direct drouth relief, the chief executive left the door open for a visit to this section should conditions permit.

"I do not propose to go west," he said, adding: "At least not for the next month or two."

Mr. Hoover had promised Texas he would visit there, if possible this year, and under the itinerary mapped out he had planned to go to that state. In addition, he and his advisers are anxious he shall have an extended vacation before undertaking the strain of another session of congress.

BANK ROBBED

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 13—Two robbers held up the Point Place state bank in a suburb here this morning. They forced Frank J. Kahle, who was behind the counter of the bank, to carry out money and place it in their machine parked at the curb. About $4,000 was taken.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13 — Joe Walinsky operates an elevator for the Mercantile-Commerce Trust Co. in which capacity he undoubtedly heard that a bank was the safest place for one's savings. But Joe had his own ideas about that.

Walinsky went to work as usual yesterday. His job of operating the bank's elevator done for the day, he returned to his home and found burglars had entered by means of a duplicate key and ripped open the mattress in which he had sewed his entire savings, $2,200.

"The money was my savings for many years and all I had in the world," Walinsky told police in reporting the theft.

OFFICIALS PUSH BOMB INQUIRY

Seek Evidence Against Aviator Accused in Air Attack on Mines.

By The Associated Press

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 13—Investigators from two federal government departments and two states today continued to build up a case of circumstantial evidence against Paul Montgomery, Murphysboro aviator, under arrest here in connection with Monday's air raid on the mining district in the vicinity of Providence, Ky.

The investigators announced today they had signed statements from three persons which they regarded as important to their case. The statements were from Clara Paul, Evelyn Fleming and Raymond Phifer, and told of seeing Montgomery leave the airport at approximately 3:30 a. m. Monday in his low-wing monoplane, accompanied by a strange man.

The girls, both of Murphysboro, had "double dated" with Phifer and Montgomery Monday night and all accompanied him to the airport they said. All three said two "rough looking" men were at the airport when they arrived, and one of them got into Montgomery's plane and flew away with him. The man who accompanied Montgomery, they said, carried a sack.

Montgomery, meanwhile, denied connection with the bombing, although admitting he made an early morning flight Monday, but said he flew alone in the vicinity of Pickneyville, which is in the opposite direction of Providence.

A warrant charging Montgomery with a felony was issued at Dixon, Ky., but it had not been determined today when the aviator would be taken there.

Herman Goldman, a special agent of the department of justice, F. Alberry, an inspector for the department of commerce; Sheriff William Flanigan of Jackson county, Ill., and Sheriff R. L. Overby of Webster county, Kentucky, were among the officials who had questioned Montgomery, the two girls and Phifer.

AMERICAN BISHOP MENACED BY REDS

Catholic Mission Head Reported in Grave Danger in China War Zone.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—Red forces surrounding Kanchow, China, recently abandoned by Nationalist troops, were believed today to have placed in grave danger Bishop J. A. O'Shea, of the Catholic mission there. He is said to be the only American remaining in the city.

The bishop, who is from St. Vincent seminary, Germantown, Pa., was reported in cables to the state department from the Canton consulate yesterday to be in a serious plight together with a few foreigners still there. Some 20 or 30 Americans who had been in the city when the threat of invasion developed were reported safe. Efforts were being made by Douglas Jenkins, American consul at Canton, to secure protection for the prelate.

Through Father Daniel McGillicuddy of the Vincentian order, Jenkins was informed of the safe arrival at Shio Schow, northern Kwangtung, of eight sisters of charity and three priests were identified as Father J. J. Corbett of Boston, Father William Joseph McClimont of St. Vincent's and Bishop Dumont, address not given.

Bishop O'Shea, a native of Deep River, Connecticut, was consecrated bishop about two years ago and placed in charge of the Vincentian mission in China. He had two brothers, both priests, in Waterbury, Conn., who were said last night to have had no word from him in several months.

It is estimated that the corn crop will be 600,000,000 bushels short. We assume that the consequently increased price of corn sugar will be passed along to the patriots who "can drink it or let it alone."

All the newspaper publishers of Chicago have agreed to stop fighting each other and act as one in their support of an investigation by two of the leading lawyers of the city looking to a clean-up there, which goes to show that the reason of the Chicago newspapers has been restored.

A St. Louis woman guest at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago was held up and robbed of $10,000 worth of jewelry just as her car reached the hotel. We hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs must remember to have our wives leave their more elaborate jewels at home when we run up to Chicago to attend her coming centennial exposition.

The captain of the liner, Suttlgart, on reaching New York on his last westward trip, reported that he had encountered rain during the entire passage. Think of it! And not a single, solitary stock of corn growing on the entire Atlantic!

Cool weather has taken the rough edge off the drought for the city dwellers, but the situation is unabated in seriousness for agriculturalists. With the partial report by the department of agriculture showing a crop reduction of seven per cent. for the nation during the month of July and yields to the acre lower than at any time since 1921, the undoubted national aspect of the drought relief problem is emphasized once again.

The conference of governors which President Hoover has called for Thursday is an attempt to bring direct relief to those areas hit hardest. This conference and the meeting of agricultural leaders which the President has called for Friday of this week indicate that state cooperation with the federal government is to be the cornerstone of whatever relief may be necessary as the results of the drought show themselves.

This plan of action recalls Mr. Hoover's treatment of flood relief in the Mississippi valley in 1927, when he was secretary of commerce. At that time, he insisted that the problem of making the stricken population self-supporting again and the long-term reconstruction could best be handled by the states involved, since each state understood its own problems best. As in flood relief, Mr. Hoover is expected to take the stand that drought relief calls for federal support of state-directed programs rather than federal control. It is believed this will be the tone of his message to the conference of governors.

The support which President Hoover's drought relief program, as outlined to date, is receiving demonstrates that the nation's confidence in his ability as a relief engineer has not been diminished in any degree by criticism of his achievements as a statesman.

The drought situation, viewed abstractly, is made to order for his proved ability at reconstruction and management. He has not only decided on relief plans, but has caused to be spread before the public a reasonably-comprehensive survey of conditions. The action of the interstate commerce commission in authorizing a reduction in freight rates on shipments of live stock, water and feeds in the drought-stricken regions was assurance of the federal government's power to cooperate. Throughout, there has been a quality of expeditious action which brooks of no criticism from friend or enemy. It has brought the work of relief up to the demands which may be expected to be made upon it. In fact, it has done everything possible but furnish the much-needed rain.

Our Merchant Marine Growing.

If a London cable is to be credited, Great Britain is a bit worried over what it calls the tremendous increase in American shipping during the sixteen years since the beginning of the World war. Reading between the lines, one might imagine that the British are fearful for the permanency of their shipping supremacy.

Lloyd's Register for 1930-31, which is the recognized authority on world shipping, shows that Great Britain, which possessed in 1892 fifty-four per cent. of the steam and motor merchant vessels afloat, today owns but 29.9 per cent., while the United States, which possessed but 3.8 per cent. of the sea merchant tonnage thirty-two years ago and only 4.5 per cent. in 1914, now has shipping afloat amounting to 16.7 per cent. of the registered craft of the world. These last figures refer to sea-going tonnage alone, and do not include 2,458,000 tons operated on the Great lakes.

At present the world tonnage is 69,607,644, of which 20,322,000 is represented by that of Great Britain and Ireland and 2,788,000 by that of the British colonies. The present United States seagoing tonnage is 10,646,000, according to the new register against 11,392,000 in 1926 and figures exceeding 11,000,000 for the intervening years. The loss in United States shipping is but a theoretical one. As a matter of fact, we are stronger in merchant shipping today than ever before, the difference between our tonnage now and in 1926 being represented by the vessels constructed by us during our participation in the war and junked during the last four years. Germany's merchant marine, it may be said in passing, ranks third and that of France, fourth; Germany today operating 6.2 per cent. of the world total and France, 5.1 per cent.

An interesting showing in the new shipping directory is that, during the last twelve months, there has been increase in world steam tonnage of but 148,176 against an increase of 1,468,235 in motor-driven vessels. This increase of 1,616,411, less a decrease in sailing vessels of 83,079 tons, leaves a net increase of 1,533,332 up to July 1, against a total of 1,119,653 tons during the same period in 1929.

Despite this increase, however, the shipyards of the world are not enjoying the activity they did before the war. Last June, the last date shown by Lloyds, there was under construction but 3,057,700 tons of shipping against the 3,331,100 tons being built in June of 1913, the year before the war.

So much publicity has been given during the last twelve months to plans to build great ocean liners ranging all the way from 45,000 to 75,000 tons that it was easy to assume that the shipyards of the world as a whole was enjoying wonderful prosperity. But they were not built, nor was a record tonnage of smaller vessels constructed according to the latest figures published by Lloyd's.

Nine masked bandits overpowered a watchman and four others employed in the Jewish People's Institute in Chicago, worked two hours to dig the vault out of the cement vault floor and made off with $3,000 in bonds and $1,000 in cash. Pretty crude work that! Wouldn't you naturally imagine that the up-to-date criminal world of Chicago would employ electric drills and derricks?

The Catholic church of New York has begun a drive to cleanse the New York City stage. It's just about a thousand-to-one proposition that the drive will come a lot nearer accomplishing its purpose than any thus far inaugurated by the city authorities.

The Mears plane crashed last week when taking off at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, for Europe, and the Wark plane, enroute from Tacoma to Tokyo, crashed this week in taking off near Vancouver. Seemingly, it might not be a half-bad scheme for aviators planning ocean flights to do a little take-off practicing from runways a bit less ideal than those they find in the greater American airports.

Such have been the number and intensity of storms there during the last six weeks that the wheat, potato and fruit crops of Switzerland were either destroyed or seriously damaged, and the Swiss, as a result, will look to this country and Canada for their wheat supply. It's lucky for the Swiss that they will not have to depend on this country for their corn needs. The prices would bankrupt them.

From Mexico comes the announcement of the discovery of the pre-Aztec city of Calixtlahuaca containing eleven temples, a number of pyramids and many valuable archeological specimens. At least, this is the third separate and distinct announcement in the last three months of its discovery.

W. J. Toews, a newspaper man in Mountain Lane, Minnesota, has received word that his brother and three other Mennonite elders have been executed in Russia for having religious feelings. It's dangerous to possess anything in Russia, even religious feelings for which the bolsheviki haven't any possible use.

Ferdinand Pinney Earle, artist of "Affinity" fame, who is now living in Paris with his fifth wife, denies that he went through a marriage ceremony with a young Los Angeles dancer who is suing him for $30,000 damages for breach of promise. Maybe Ferdinand is perfectly honest in his denial. His marital career has been so hectic that it's easily possible that he might overlook a ceremony or two.

OILY DIPLOMACY.

For all its lubricating qualities, oil is capable of causing a great deal of friction, and one of the irritation points just now is the very oily country of Iraq. This state, a British mandate since the war, is about to enter the League of Nations—the modern equivalent to achieving independence. The legal and political problems involved are only normally complex, the British taking pains to assure military and diplomatic control of the strategic points.

But the economic implications of the projected change is Iraq's status are challenging, because the Mosul oil fields, in the northern part of the country, are among the richest potential supplies of petroleum in the world. As a British mandate, Iraq granted very large concessions to a syndicate of oil companies, including the Anglo-Persian, the Royal Dutch Shell, a French company and an American group, headed by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

This syndicate prefers to hoard the Mosul deposits until other fields are exhausted, but the ambitious new Iraq government wants money, and insists on immediate drilling with corresponding royalties to the government. A potent industrial group in Great Britain is backing this countermovement, and almost anything may come out of it. The present concession could be revoked if King Feisal holds to his contention in the negotiations now under way.

However much we may be in the habit of seeing "backward" countries treated as pawns in the game of oil diplomacy, King Feisal of Iraq has his wits about him, and undoubtedly will drive a hard bargain and show a profit when he is through. The Mesopotamians are that sort of people.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HARD TIMES AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

Why in this the richest country in the world should men be unemployed and children be unclothed and hungry? If any one can give me a real reason I would like to know what it is. We have four or five major reasons why such is the case, but not one of them but what could be shelved and everybody, big business man, small business man, and workers would be greatly benefited. Unemployment is like a contagious disease; some big employer has the notion that he is not making profit enough and so he cuts his force with the expectation of hiring them back at a reduction in salary and in a very short time all employers are following suit with the result that many men are out of work. And if all the factories in the country are working half time, do you think the profit is as much as if they were working full time? So if the big employer saves a few dollars with less wages how much more does he lose by his factory being closed for a while? Of course, in the last ten years we have had a surplus of factory workers because so many men have left the farms for the glittering gold of the city promised to them by the big business men. Also in the last ten years many more married women are working than previous to that time. I mean women whose husbands are gainfully employed also. But we will never be without this evil until our body of lawmakers at Washington have the courage to pass laws for the good of not only big business, but for every one.

If they would enact three or four laws that I have in mind it would be better for every one in this country.

Do not get the idea that I think if you have five dollars and I have none that you should give me $2.50 of yours, for I do not believe in that kind of a policy.

But I do say that certain laws should be enacted governing our big employers. We have them for some enterprises, why not for all? Why should any one go to a foreign country in order to manufacture certain products? Is there not room enough in this country to build his factory? And also to man it? I believe in Americans for Americans first, and the majority should rule. Do they?

Sure there is another side to this question also. If anything disgusts me it is for a worker to slight his work, think he is putting one over on the boss. And did you ever see a person get very far that uses that method?

Do not be afraid that you will do more than you get paid for. I like that old saying—"Doing nothing is doing ill." That is the reason we have so many ills today—so many people doing nothing and so they do ill. So unemployment has more effect than it seems on the surface. So the best way to better our conditions is for every one to do unto others as we wish to be done by. As we find conditions today, can we say that we are highly civilized? Can we say that we are the leading Christian nation? What do you think?

Earners Show Health Improvement.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Every so often interesting reports are forthcoming of health statistics among policy holders of certain life insurance companies. The first quarterly report of a great insurance company, for the year 1930, shows the best condition of health among its 19,000,000 industrial policy holders for any similar period of any previous year.

That the first quarter of 1930 has been an improvement over this period last year is evidenced by the absence of epidemics. In 1929 influenza was prevalent and health conditions in the country were the worst experienced in a decade.

The statistics on deaths from tuberculosis for the first quarter of 1930 are encouraging. The death rate from this disease showed the sharpest drop of any disease, the mortality among the white population having been 65.3 per 100,000. This is a reduction of 10.3 per cent. from the lowest previous figures for the first quarter of any year. Among the negro population the death rate from tuberculosis for this quarter was 207.8 per 100,000, a drop of 4.6 per cent.

Most of the principal childhood diseases have shown reduced death rates as compared to the same period for 1928 and 1929. Scarlet fever was an exception in this respect.

A noteworthy drop was recorded for diphtheria. The mortality rate in this disease at the end of March among the white and negro population combined was shown to be 8.9 per 100,000, as compared with 10.7 in 1929.

A considerable reduction in the death rate from all causes is shown in the report. A marked improvement is recorded for pneumonia, influenza, intestinal complaints, chronic nephritis, and tuberculosis, as has been noted. As to the cancer death rate, a pronounced drop has been noted among the white population of the country.

These are hopeful signs. With increased individual knowledge of an interest in preventive measures against disease and added facilities for the treatment and cure of disease, public health conditions in the country as a whole should see even greater gains in the future.

It is a happy thing for all of us that the scientific world is at work on means of bettering the public health. The report I have quoted gives us courage.

Beer Slipping in Germany.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

Munich, Aug. 13—Statistics show beer is losing popularity over the Fatherland save in this gloriously colorful capital of Bavaria. Aristocratic Germans sip beer in private, but in public they drink only native wines. The slump is wrinkling brewers' brows. But there is no worry about Munich.

Twenty breweries, running full blast night and day, uphold the tradition. The waiter brings a foaming beaker along with breakfast coffee as a touch of hospitality. If you order a pitcher of ice-water they accompany it with a pitcher of beer. I'm afraid to turn on bath faucets.

Munich, being the easiest entrance to the Alps, is constantly besieged by visitors. Its transients exceed its 700,000 population. So, while animating, life is confusing. It seems, in the manner of a tourist hunting his grip, to dash around in hysterical circles.

Art is as highly developed, however, as beer. No other city can boast so many art students or bare-legged men in "shorts" The air has a nip for the city is high above the sea. After nightfall in hottest months an overcoat is indispensable.

While my wife attended a "Wagner-Festspiele," I toured the beer cellars. They have names such as "Hofbrauhaus," "Lowenbraukeller" and other jaw-breakers. All are dark drinking places in a heavy oaken dignity, suggesting Luchow's in halycon days.

Everywhere I was told I should have been here on March 19. That is annual tap day for the celebrated Salvator beer from the "Paulanerbrauerie" and I gather everybody gets pie-eyed. In mentioning it, the native pats his paunch, rolls his eyes and makes gurgling noises.

While most places are called cellars, many are outdoor gardens or large halls with vaulted roofs. The largest is the Munchener Kindlkeller occupying 26,000 square feet and seating 6,000 or almost the population of Gallipolis, Ohio, including our fashionable suburb, Millcreek.

Cafes ring with the rhythm of the overworked "Maine Stein" song. It gained the same overnight popularity here as in America.

In the Munchener Kindlkeller, a man a half dozen tables removed was a startling image of Will Rogers, even to chewing gum and unruly forelock. I sneaked over to cover his eyes—you know, "Guess who this is?" surprise! surprise! but whoever it was was rattling away in German so I tip-toed back again.

Every day a military band gives a noon concert in the Rathausof—the town hall courtyard. The town turns out rain or shine. No city in Germany has such tremendous civic zeal as Munich. My guess is the band stimulates enthusiasm.

I have briefly peeped at the Residenz museum, the English garden, Old and New Pinakothek and dog-trotted through one or two other art shrines but when other memories of Munich fade I shall recall a large, splashing fountain made entirely of sea shells. It was a huckleberry.

Munich has shady squares and wide promenades and is easy to explore. No matter where one strays, he or she can be guided back to the center of the city by two high towers of the celebrated Frauenkirche.

One should, I presume, remain in Munich several weeks to become saturated with its universities, its art—and perhaps its beer. But we must cat-hop away before the traveler's checks completely vanish. It has developed into a race with a disappearing purse and if my knee jerks hold out I expect to win with a left over five spot for the boat steward going home.

Matter and Radiation.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Among the pressing problems agitating scientists today are: The formation of the elements, the origin of cosmic radiation, and the enormously high densities of certain material structures. Scientists are beginning to doubt the ancient and tenaciously entertained belief that the universe is running down, like a clock. Perhaps there are mighty yet infinitesimal processes going on inside matter which enable the universe to regenerate itself. Perhaps the clock is continually re-winding itself!

Recent studies have been made of the combination of the proton and the electron for which has been coined the word "neutron." The proton and the electron are very dissimilar. The entire atom is no more than a billionth of an inch in size. The diameter of an electron is not more than one ten-trillionth of an inch. The solitary proton in a hydrogen atom, is not more than one ten-quadrillionth of an inch in diameter. The weight of an electron is negligible, it is comparatively large, and has a negative electric charge. On the other hand, the proton is much smaller in size than the electron, but it is 1,800 times as heavy, and has a positive electric charge.

The electric charges, strangely enough, are equal, in proton and electron. It has been estimated, in statistical considerations, that the total number of electrons and of protons in the universe is the same. It would appear that they are created in a paired relationship. The falling of electrons into protons is constantly giving rise to radiation which goes out through the universe. The vast energy thus released into empty space is perhaps caught somewhere else in the universe and reconverted into protons and electrons, paired as before. Thus nature may, after all, be busy all the while in the highly useful task of self-regeneration.

Around the proton in an atom of radium, for example, buzz eighty-eight electrons like flies in a cathedral. Luyten suggests that the flies should be considered as tiny particles of platinum, and the cathedral constructed of the thinnest tissue-paper. Consider what would happen if the tissue-paper cathedral should collapse? Suppose the atoms were "stripped" of all its electrons? Consider what the consequences would be!

Take the combination of electron and proton, known as the neutron. It could easily be projected through a sheet of platinum, the densest of metals on our earth.

The sheet of platinum is, actually a sieve of tremendously wide mesh, and the holes are hundreds of thousands of times larger than the neutron. Space is presumably filled with neutrons, mostly in particular large aggregations of matter. It is more than possible, for example, that at the center of the earth there is an immense collection of neutrons tightly packed together.

Such a tightly packed collection of neutrons we shall call "neutronium." Its minimum density is four trillion times that of water. One cubic inch of neutronium—believe it or not!—would weigh 60,000,000 tons. A sphere composed entirely of neutrons of only a mile diameter would weigh as much as the entire earth. A small globe of closely-packed neutrons fifteen miles in diameter, surrounded by a layer of gas 10,000 miles thick would constitute a star with an average density 50,000 times that of water. Perhaps that is the constitution of a normal star!—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

Suppose you had millions to give away, would you know how to relieve that poverty, quiet the unrest, bring happiness? Can human nature be repaired with money?

Scientists, gathering in Paris, are told the conference is called for the purpose of reuniting scientific workers of all nations, the contacts of whom have been interrupted and retarded by the World war—and to reawaken a sense of profound interest in the welfare of humanity.

This is hopeful. Thoughtful men are learning to think and talk in terms of human rather than national welfare. Contacts in science and social work, broken down by the war, are made again. The government is important; the people are more important.

Anybody who doesn't believe in ceremony and ritual, whether in church or other service, doesn't know much about the reaction of the human being. In the normal man there is a sense of rhythm, a sense of beauty, a sense of wonder and imagination. Ceremony and ritual appeal to him. They leave impressions that are deep. Some very modern folk decry ceremony and ritual in church service. And yet the average of us would get more out of church, rather than less, if the services were more ceremonial.

It is rather pathetic to find ourselves and others seeking to live, even for a little while, in an unreal world.

Who knows how to plan civilization? There is a job for you. Bruce Bliven, editor of the New Republic, says:

"We must put civilization on a plan basis if there is to be any hope for its continuance. There is a constant race between education and catastrophe. Most of the old props that sustained our faith in the happy future of mankind have been removed. Religion, for instance, is playing an ever-diminishing part as in influencing factor in American life. The home has been replaced by outside amusements as a focal center of family interest. The example of soviet Russia has given us the ever-present menace of a world-wide proletarian revolution.

"We have come to realize that evolution is not necessarily beneficent and that another struggle like the World war would evolve a new barbarism which would lead to a new era of 'Dark Ages.' If man is to continue to live on this planet, he must control the machine of civilization which he has created."

We're the Happiest Ever.

If the dumbest races are the happiest, as a scientist says, what with tree sitting, endurance flying and such we're surely moving toward a state of bliss.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Heflin to Be Opponent

In Alabama the Democratic winner will battle Senator J. Thomas Heflin, ousted from the primary for failing to support the party's 1928 presidential standard bearer. Speculation developed in the state over an indicated large difference in total vote for gubernatorial over senatorial candidates in view of Heflin's appeal to his supporters to abstain from voting until the November election. Lieutenant Governor Davis led five other candidates in the gubernatorial race.

The Nebraska primaries appeared to have yielded a victory also for Charles W. Bryan, brother of the Commoner, who sought the Democratic nomination for the governorship. He was the 1924 vice presidential candidate of his party and formerly was governor of his state.

ROMANCE AND ADVENTURES OF A DARING TEXAS GIRL

CHAPTER 19
New Hope of Happiness

DAGGER wasn't a person to drift indefinitely or to shirk responsibility, and as Jack's drinking became increasingly pernicious she was moved to intervene.

However objectionable his habits, there remained in him, inseparable from his disposition, the underlying vein of affection he had inherited from his father.

Drunk or sober, he treated her with consideration, and his worst sprees were varied by spells of transient contrition and loving kindness. He wasn't, in plain words, a damned sot. His trouble was weakness, not viciousness.

Moreover, his mother had snubbed her pride, and thrown herself on Dagger's mercy.

"Alexandra, it's a bitter thing for me to say, but he will do more for you than he will for me." The white head was held high; the cold eyes met Dagger's unflinchingly. "Speak to him, please! Do anything. He's ruining himself, now."

Dagger knew what the plea cost Mrs. Vaneering; her instinct was toward generosity.

"I can't influence him alone," she answered. "But if you would help me——"

"Certainly," assented her mother-in-law, whose pride was assuaged by the compliment.

"You wouldn't mind if he went away? He'll never stop here, where there are so many temptations."

"I should consent to that very readily," Mrs. Vaneering agreed. "Poor boy, he is too popular for his own good in New York."

Old Jim Marley had been writing fretfully, asking Dagger if he was ever to see her again, and it was in her mind to carry Jack off to Texas, where he might spend the day in the saddle, riding and hunting in the open air. But when she suggested the plan next morning he wouldn't listen to her.

"Bury myself on a ranch, with Mexicans and cowpunchers for company? Not much! You can go if you want to."

"But it would be so good for you, Jack," begged his mother. "The exercise and the change of climate. Your knee is well enough to ride."

He scowled.

"Your idea, too, eh? Want to get rid of me. Well, I won't go. I'm financing this man, Olny, in building a big three-motor plane for trans-Atlantic flying, and I want to stand by and see the job through."

"You can't be much use if you keep on drinking so heavily," Dagger pointed out. "It's that that worries us, Jack."

"Oh, don't be forever inhibiting me," he snarled. "You might think I couldn't look after myself."

"You can't," Dagger answered curtly.

And his mother wailed.

"I wouldn't mind if it did you any good, Jackie; but you are so strange nowadays. And you drink all the time. Cousin Charles told me that two nights ago you were unable to leave the Stuyvesant club."

Jack silenced her with a glare.

"What does me harm is being made to feel that you two are picking me over behind my back," he growled. "You might think I didn't do any work at all, and the truth is that this aviation business is more important than anything in front of the country today."

His dull eyes brightened, as they usually did when he launched upon his favorite topic. "I tell you, the time's coming, and soon, when it will be an everyday occurrence to fly the Atlantic, and people won't think any more of hopping to Chicago or St. Louis than they do now of driving or going by train. There'll be money in flying stocks, and I'll be in a position to cash in."

He lounged to his feet, stretching his arm over his head, good humor restored. "Don't talk to me, you two! The family made their big wad in railroads. Won't you be proud of me when Vaneering Airways are launched, and you'll be dodging spare parts from my busses in the sky?"

Both women had to laugh. He was like a small boy, who has been caught out, but manages to produce a convincing excuse for his bad habits.

And Dagger, if not his mother had a conception of the validity of his visions for the future. She went across the room to him, and dropped her hands on his shoulders.

"I love to hear you talk like that, Jack," she said. "And I do believe in aviation, just as you do. I won't begrudge you a moment you spend on the Olny ship or in this airways matter. It's because I want you to have plenty of energy for such important things that I ask you to cut down on your drinking."

He was touched.

"You're a sweet little thing. Not many girls would understand so well."

"I presume you relegate your mother to that class," complained Mrs. Vaneering.

He reached out and patted her cheek.

"Now, mater darling! You're a peach. I'll have a phonograph record made, with a declaration of my undying love and appreciation, and turn it on whenever you start that line."

"But you will cut down the drinking?" insisted Dagger.

"I sure will," he promised easily. "And after we find out if the Olny can fly, we'll take a trip. How'd you like to go abroad? You never had a real honeymoon."

Honeymoon! No, she'd never really had one, Dagger reflected—nor, in the sense she had anticipated, a marriage.

"I'd love that, Jack," she acknowledged soberly. "Let's do it."

"After Christmas," he agreed. "If mother won't mind."

"I daresay I shall be able to amuse myself," Mrs. Vaneering replied stiffly.

In the last few moments the soggy, petulant expression Jack habitually wore at home had faded from his face. He was again the hard-bitten, jovial daredevil Dagger had met on the St. Anthony roof.

She was drawn to him as she hadn't been in months, drawn notwithstanding an inner voice of scepticism whispered that he'd made similar promises before. But this voice she throttled resolutely. It was unfair to doubt in advance of performance.

"Would you like to have a party with me tonight?" she asked. "Dine out, and go to the theater?"

She looked questioningly at Mrs. Vaneering, who hesitated and then finally indicated endorsement. Jack kissed her, with a gravity beyond his wont.

"That's a swell idea, honey. And don't you worry about me. Maybe I do lift a few glasses over the mark, but I'm the same old Jack, and one of these days, when this infernal knee gets to where it won't throb in damp weather, you'll be surprised what a model husband I become."

That day Dagger knew happiness. In the morning she went shopping, and lunched with an authoress whom she'd met at the Cosmopolitan club; in the afternoon she attended a reception, leaving early to be in time to greet Jack, and have a talk before they went out to dinner.

She walked home up Fifth avenue in the glow of an Indian summer afternoon. The blood pulsed through her; her heart was glad; her feet seemed to tread the air. And she was amused and flattered to note from the corner of her eye how men turned and stared at her.

How glorious it would be about this hour on the prairies of the Figure 2. Pulsing through the din of the traffic she seemed to hear the lowing of the cattle, streaming down to the water-holes: the crooned "Git along, little doggies" of the punchers, slouching low in their saddles after a day's hard riding.

It was verging on dusk when she reached the Vaneering house, and she had begun to climb the steps before she observed a knot of men standing on the curb. They started toward her at the same moment, but a watchful policeman pushed them back—— "Ain't you got no sense?" she heard him growl. "That's her."

An icy hand squeezed her heart. She caught her breath, and was about to speak to them when the front door opened, and James stepped forward, his ordinarily impassive features stamped with grief.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

WHEN me and Jubilee woke up this morning I laid for a long time thinking about basses and shimmy-wigglers and grandfathers and such things; and then I looked down at the foot of the bed and there was a tree-toad like I had seen a lot of at the lake yesterday on the sweetflags, setting on the foot of the bed watching me. And I got out of bed as careful as I could and got Jubilee's rope and let him down, and then I snuck back and eased over and grabbed Mr. Treetoad and then I had to dress myself with one hand and be careful not to squeeze him too hard.

I bet I brung him home in my clothes without knowing it. I took him downstairs and put him in the pantry under a teacup so as to have him when I got done milking, and I was out in the barn with the bunch milking the dummed brutes, and just as I started to give Jubilee a few squirts we all heard a scream and a crash in the house, and Maggie and Feeble and Younias skun out for the house and so did I, and it was my tree-toad.

My ant had started to help my mother set the table for breakfast and had got a lot of dishes on one arm and then started to pick up some cups to go with them, and when she lifted up his cup Mr. Tree-toad jumped up on the front of her dress and hung there, and she threw all of the dishes over her head and let a screech out of her that brang everybody running.

The tree-toad could not be found, and she was excited and telling everyone what had happened, and my father didn't look very well pleased, because he was thinking about new dishes he would have to buy. My grandfather said it sounded to him like a tree-toad, and then they all looked at me, and the more they looked the more I wished I could crawl into my pocket and hide. Then my father said to me, "Did you bring a tree-toad home with you yesterday, young man?" I looked surprised and said: "If I did I didn't know it." And that was the truth.

I hurried out then and finished milking and came in and we were all getting busy with the eats and the girls were standing around and all at once Feeble said [illegible] that thing on your [illegible] you saw?" Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

The Personal Note, Creeps into Phil Veritzen's Voice

THE personal note I so dreaded had returned to Philip Veritzen's voice as he asked me what was the color of the gown I meant to wear to Mary's party. But, I reflected, the best way to deal with it was a quick, direct answer. Then I could cut short our conference with the promise to send him the colors of the gowns worn by the other women as soon as I found them out myself.

"I cannot agree with you that the color of my gown is the most important,' I said with a smile as I rose. "Mary's is that, and I already have told you about it. My own is to be a very simple affair of Nile green tulle over white."

"Ah-h!" Mr. Veritzen made the softly uttered exclamation a subtle admiration of my choice. "It is the color which suits you best. I shall know what to send for that."

"And as for the others," I went on hurriedly, "I shall find out about all of them as soon as possible and telephone you—where?"

"Must you telephone?" he asked. "I shall be in the hotel all the morning, and can see you at any time. I would so like to be of service to you, if I could."

I had a sudden vision of Dicky's face if I should go about my preparations for Mary's party closely attended by the courtly figure of Mr. Vehtizen. I also had a lively realization of the savory morsels of gossip which the ancient crones of the hotel would be rolling under their tongues, if the same sight should be vouchsafed them.

"I am afraid I must telephone," I said decidely. "Thank you so much for your offer, but I shall be terribly busy today, and my husband and Mrs. Underwood can tell you that under stress of any kind I work much better alone. And now, I must ask you to excuse me. Some other time I shall try to tell you how very much I appreciate all your kindness."

I could not ignore his outstretched hand, but as he bent to it and kissed it in his invariable continental fashion I was extremely grateful that no one was yet in the library. And as I hurried into the elevator and was carried up to my own apartment, I was conscious of two directly opposite emotions pulling at me. One, of which my conscience approved, was a grim little feeling of vindictiveness at the annoyance his openly expressed admiration was causing me. The other, almost subconscious, unworthy, of which I was thoroughly ashamed, was the mean little gratification which a woman feels when an attractive, fascinating sought-after man, is showering attentions upon her.

I met Lillian in the corridor between our apartment.

"Lo early robin!" she said, bringing up her hand in a burlesqued salute. "I trust the worm was easy to find this morning."

I had a sudden ludicrous vision of the suave polished gentleman I had just left the library.

"He was," I said with a grin.

She looked at me with sudden keenness.

"So old Phil was on the job this morning," she commented.

"Very much so."

"I thought he would be. Yet he did not knock at my door. That I can swear, although the top and the seven sleepers had nothing on your little girl friend. How did you sidetrack him? But you can't tell me here in the hall, and if I don't get my breakfast, pronto, I shall commit mayhem on somebody. Have you had yours?

Lillian Amused

"Yes," I made a sudden grimace, and an unholy light of teasing came into her eyes.

"Don't tell me you breakfasted with deah old Phil!"

"I couldn't help it," I protested giving my friend, who loves teasing almost as much as her husband, a wide opening.

"They never can," she said solemnly. "But 'what are the old crones saying?'" she crooned the old tune provokingly, "and what will they be saying the whole day long?"

"I don't know, and care less," I snapped. "Tell me, are Harry and Noel awake?"

"No, why?"

"Because I've some telephoning to do, and I'm afraid of disturbing them."

"Telephoning at this hour, to whom?"

"Why! Mrs. Brixton for one, to find out whether she has planned anything for tonight which will interfere with Mary's party."

She looked at me mirthfully.

"You poor little small towner," she gibed, "with your quaintly rustic ideas of early rising, if you should get Helena out of bed at this hour, she'd send an alienst to you. And no tradespeople open their shops any more until nine. You can't do a thing until then except talk to me and give me the lowdown on what's happened. Come on down to the dining room with me and have another cup of coffee while I have breakfasted."

CHRISTIAN JINX BEATS CALVARY, 5-4

MEET METHODIST 9 FOR CELLAR POSITION OF CHURCH LEAGUE

St. Mary's Ends Season in Second Place by Beating Seniors.

YESTERDAY'S SCORES

Epworth No. 1 10, Epworth Juniors 2.

Chistians 5, Calvary 4.

St. Mary's 5, Epworth Seniors 0.

Baptists 4, Lutherans 3.

BY BOB ELLIOTT

That ancient jinx that demands at least one Central Christian triumph over Calvary a season despite the standings of the two teams was in good working order last evening and the means and extremes of the First Church loop met with Christians winning, 5 to 4. The victory, coupled with the Epworth Juniors defeat by Epwoth No. 1, makes a play-off necessary between Christians and the Juniors to see which team gets to stay in the First loop and which goes back to the No. 2 league.

The champions were helpless before Roscoe Rank for the first six frames, their only score being rather a synthetic home run by Fido Robbins in the first inning. The hit was a liner that Rife tried to catch and failed coming in at full speed. In the meantime Christians had pecked away at Lyle Messenger and Gruber for two runs in the third and then added three more in the fifth. That lead looked good until the seventh when Flash Baldauf reached first on Gillis' error.

Bobbles Hurt

Two more bobbles by the Christian third baseman put three men in, making the score 5 to 4 with two out and C. Messenger resting on second base with the tying run. Bob Gibson slammed a drive between first and second but Geissler made a beautiful stop and threw him out.

This same Geissler's bat was mainly instrumental in the final three Christian runs, his triple over third base scoring Holcraft and Ward and he scored a moment later as Gibson was throwing out Yazel. The first two runs were the result of some weak playing by A. Baldauf at shortstop.

St Mary's clinched second place and ended their season one game behind Calvary when Gene Gunder blanked the Epworth Seniors, 5 to 0. A home run by Simmons with Irwin on base was the big show of the evening. Gunder gave up three singles and a double. The Seniors as a result of their defeat finished up in fourth place.

Trinity Baptist finished up their season with one of the most unique records in the annals of recreation ball. With their 4 to 3 win over the Lutherans they hold a victory over every team in the league and yet find themselves able to finish only in fifth position, for the simple reason that they also lost to every team in the league.

Homer Wins

Somerlot's home run with Roberts on base won the game from the Lutherans last evening. The first Baptist run came in the first on a walk to Osterholt and hits by R. Merchant, W. Merchant, and Little. The Lutherans scored twice in the first and once in the fourth. Two hits and a walk failed to produce a score in the fifth inning.

John Clark's Epworth No. 1 team took ample revenge for a first round defeat at the hands of the Epworth Juniors by plastering them with a 10 to 2 setback. Gamble was too good in the pinches, giving up but four safe hits. His six walks kept him in hot water but the 18 No. 1 hits off Eddie Mautz were more than enough to offset any worrying on his part.

The winners' big innings were the first and fifth when four runs crossed the plate each time.

The scores by innings:

St. Mary's	012 002 0—5
Seniors	000 000 0—0
Gunder and Sheehe; Rice and Wolf.
Calvary	100 000 3—4
Christians	002 030 x—5
C. Messenger, Gruber and L. Messenger; Rank and Holcraft.
Lutherans	200 100 0—3
Baptists	200 020 x—4
Kochensperger and Thibaut; Somerlot, Applegett and Roberts.
Epworth Juniors	001 001 0— 2
Epworth No. 1	420 040 x—10
Mautz and Kirkpatrick; Gamble and Wilson.

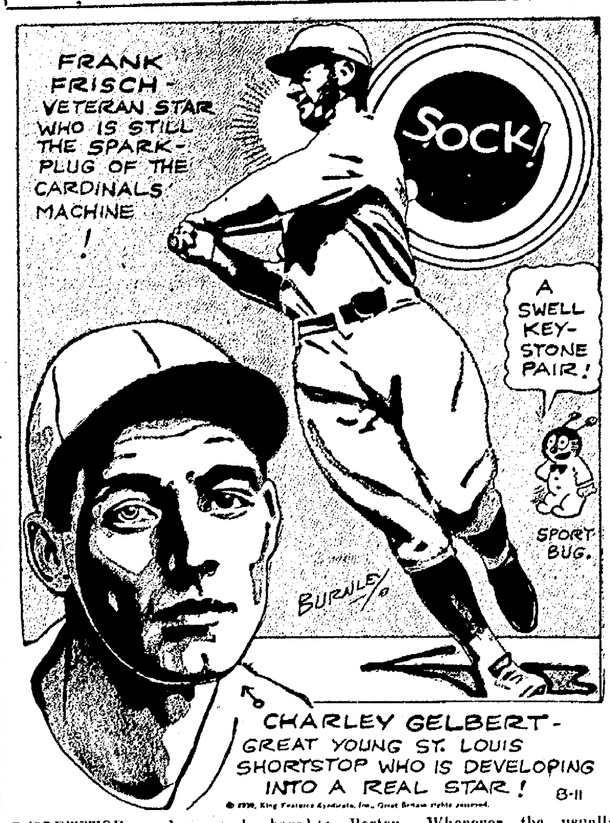

INDUSTRIAL TILTS ARE POSTPONED

Due to the extreme interest in the Huber-Erie Roundhouse game for the league championship tomorrow evening all other scheduled Industrial tilts have been postponed until a week from Thursday to allow all the players in the league to witness the championship tilt.

A date for the opening of Little World Series will be set at the meeting of the commission next Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Monday, Aug. 25, seems a logical date for the opening clash.

Boxing Circles in Turmoil as Promoters Wrangle Over Fights

A KEYSTONE IDEAL

SHORTSTOP and second base constitute the keystone of a baseball team's defense, and rare is it that an outfield is genuinely great without a super-skilled combination clicking well in those positions and starting nine out of every ten double plays made during the course of a season.

St. Louis fans think their Cardinals have 1930's best keystone combination with Charley Gelbert at short harmonizing peppily with the dazzling Frankie Frish at second.

Not Very Often

Gelbert flames with youth while his veteran infield partner continues (as the bleacherites pointedly say it) "to make a sucker out of John McGraw" who traded the one-time Giant star "down the river" for Rogers Hornsby. "Mac" thought he got the best of that deal.

However great though "Rajah" was, he was not a team dynamo like his predecessor and soon passed on to Boston. Whenever the usually shrewd "Master Mind" McGraw contemplates Frisch's brilliancy at St. Louis, the Napoleon of baseball must secretly regret that Hornsby swap.

At the start, Gelbert—son and namesake of one of Penn's greatest football ends—was too pepful. He fought the ball, threw too quickly, and overran his hits but his alert intelligence soon curbed those youthful faults until his shortfield play this season has won the outspoken admiration of Frisch, his other team-mates and the fans.

Best in Years

Not since Ford and Critz sprouted double plays in abundance with the Cincinnati Reds has a better keystone duo been developed than the Cards' present short-and-second combination.

Incidentally, Frisch and Gelbert are hitting well into the .300 class. Their all-round play thus far is one of baseball's most notable features this season.

BOSTON SAILOR AND PRIMO MAY BATTLE IN CHICAGO STADIUM

Europe's Leading Promoter After Stribling Go With Maxie.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—The olden, golden days when Rickard was king came back to boxing in a flash of vivid color and lived again today, inspired by the promise and the hope of ultra-important developments in the heavyweight division before nightfall. In one hotel sat Jeff Dickson, the Tex Rickard of Europe, like a subtle spider awaiting the unwary. In another were the Striblings, "Pa" and William. In a third, the agents of Jack Sharkey were to have words with Miguel Malloy, the padrone of the stockyards, concerning the proposed Sharkey-Carnera fight in Chicago on September 29. Over on Broadway, the Herr Jacobs, stepmanager of the Herr Schmeling, was to have words with anybody who would listen to him.

Good Card

A probable development of what promised to be a most garrulous day was a tentative closing of the Chicago fight. Both Sharkey and Carnera are said to be for it, which would seem to leave nothing to do except fight the prize fight. An improbable development of the day is Mr. Dickson's proposal to close a heavyweight championship fight in Berlin between Schmeling and Stribling.

At Mr. Dickson's solicitation, the Herr Jake cancelled passage on the Europa and apparently is scheduled to remain here indefinitely. It will take Mr. Dickson that long to talk the Herr Jake into a Stribling fight in Berlin or elsewhere, the Herr Jake being committed to accepting two opponents for Schmeling in Paris and Berlin, providing both of them are Paulino Uzcudun.

Mr. Dickson promoted the Stribling-Scott fight in London and proudly declares that he turned away 20,000 customers. This beats Rickard's record by 20,000, it having been Tex's boast that no man could say he ever was turned away by Rickard, provided he had the proper credentials engraved by the government in green. Anyhow, Mr. Dickson says he can draw 100,000 people at a championship fight in Berlin but so far I suspect that he has discovered no method by which he can draw the Herr Schmeling. The fight, it was added, would gross a million dollars, which is quite a few pennies in Berlin.

Do a Lot of Good

Stribling Pere was most vociferous when he arrived last night and not only filed a chattel mortgage against the heavyweight championship but snorted in his very best southern manner when the Madison Square Garden Corporation was mentioned. It was gathered that William would not fight Campolo for the garden nor would he accept a Tuffy Griffiths fight in Chicago and it must be conceded that he would be a chump if he felt otherwise, after slapping Scott and Von Porat silly in less than three rounds.

Gallant Fox in Tip-Top Shape for the Travers

By International News Service

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 13—Gallant Fox is in tip-top condition for his duel with Whichone in the Travers on Saturday.

That was the gleeful opinion today of his trainer, Jim Fitzsimmons. Fitzsimmons timed Gallant Fox in his final prep yesterday in a mile and one-quarter at 2:04 2-5 and said he had the utmost confidence that the horse would maintain his clean slate by winning his seventh stake of the season. The workout was considered a sensational trial by all admirers of Gallant Fox.

Tilden Resumes Play in Westchester Club Match

By The Associated Press

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 13—Big Bill Tilden, after a two-day rest, picks up a racquet again today in defense of his eastern grass courts title as the sixteen remaining men players swing into the third round of the singles play at the Westchester Country club.

The veteran ace of the United States Davis Cup team is scheduled to play Julius Seligson, Lehigh university star from New York. The seven other men's singles matches are also on today's schedule.

The women's singles were also down to the third round with Baroness Levi, Italy's No. 2 ranking player, slated to meet Miss Ruth Oexman, Cincinnati, in the feature match.

Benefit Clash Scheduled at Lincoln Park

MARION'S second benefit recreation baseball game will be played this evening at Lincoln Park between the Serv-U-Wel Grocers and the Prospect Firemen. The proceeds of the game will go to Bill Steinmetz, Grocer left fielder, who was injured in the last tilt between these two teams and was forced to lay off work. Admission to the game this evening which is a regularly scheduled Commercial league game, will be 10 cents.

The Firemen and Grocers have played 20 innings trying to settle their second round game. The first tilt ended 9 to 9 and the second game a couple of weeks later went 11 innings to a 10-to-10 tie. So the fans at the game this evening should at least see a close game.

The game is extremely important in the standings for a Prospect victory will clinch the Commercial flag for the Kappas. If the Grocers win they still have a slim chance to tie for the title, the provision being that the Firemen show a reversal of form and down the "Kaps" Friday, which looks highly improbable at this stage of the race.

However the Prospect team is dangerous and if the Grocers can defeat them this evening they can consider themselves lucky.

SPORT RAMBLINGS

BY BOB ELLIOTT

CALLING attention Ladies and Gentlemen to the triumph boasted by the Central Christians over the champion Calvary team. The victory makes necessary a play-off between the Christians and Epworth Juniors for the right to remain in the No. 1 league instead of going back to the No. 2 loop. It's one of the rules and regulations of the game you know that the No. 2 winner advances to the No. 1 loop while the team that ends up last in the No. 1 loop goes back to the No. 2 league to make room for the other league champs. It's Lee Street up and who goes down will probably be decided next Tuesday evening.

Rather a funny record the Baptists compiled this year. A win and a defeat against every team in the No. 1 league. That's probably the first time such a feat has been accomplished and if the Baptists had gotten and to a better start in the first round it's hard telling where they would have finished. They lost their first five games, won one, then lost another, won five straight at the outset of the second round, lost to the Epworth Seniors, and then won from the Lutherans last evening. They've got a good team and will bear watching next season.

CALVARY is evidently picking Erie Roundhouse to win the Industrial league or at least taking no chances for they played Fido Robbins in right field last evening and worked Scoop Midlam at third which is the position Scoop will have to play in case the railroaders win the Thursday night gonfalon. Robbins has decided to go with Erie in case they win so Willie Baldauf is naturally rooting pretty hard for the Huber nine to come through. That's nothing, so are about a thousand other people. Then again there's about a thousand more that are all for a Roundhouse win, so that makes everything lovely. Will Calvary miss Fido? Will the Athletics win the American league pennant, Oscar?

WANTS DIVORCE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 13 — Mrs. Anna F. Gershuny today was seeking a divorce from Benjamin J. Gershuny, the Benny Gershe of boxing fame. They first married in 1925, were divorced in 1928, then remarried last May 8. Now Mrs. Gershuny charges him with cruelty and wants another divorce. She asks alimony and custody of their four-year-old daughter.

Charles Comiskey, president of the White Sox, is out to buy five new pitchers and get outfield strength for the 1931 season.

WIN OVER BROOKLYN HELPS CUBS PLENTY

McCarthy and Team Believe They Can't Be Beat for National League Flag.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 13—Broad smiles wreathed the faces of Manager Joe McCarthy and his bristling Cubs today as they faced the staggered Brooklyn Robins in the second battle of the four-game series for the whip seat in the National league pennant drive.

To a man, they believed they were "in." They believed they had toppled the Robins from first place for good this year.

"Well, I think we've started at last," Marse Joe said with an infectious chuckle. "We've thrashed the Robins right out of first place and supplanted them ourselves. Our pitching has returned to its effectiveness of 1929 and we have a long home stay ahead to fortify ourselves for the final swing around the circuit next month. Our big chance to sew up the pennant is here."

Another reason for McCarthy's optimism can be seen daily now swinging his bat in batting practice. It is Rogers Hornsby. The Rajah is improved and all but ready to take his turn at second and at the plate at least as a pinch hitter. His tractured left ankle is all but healed.

Guy Bush or Bob Osborn expected to get the pitching call against the Robins today while Watson Clarke was believed to be Uncle Wilbert Robinson's choice. Another record crowd also was expected. Forty-five thousand spectators jammed Wrigley Field for yesterday's thriller.

ROBINS FIELD BADLY BEHIND DAZZLER TO GIVE BRUINS VICTORY

Athletic Hurlers Give Tribe One Run in Twin Bill in Philly.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—When two ball clubs get together and one outhits, outfields and outgames the other the result can't possibly be written otherwise than it is blackbourded today—Chicago 3; Brooklyn 2.

With the Cubs a full game in the lead now, they tangle again this afternoon and unless the Robins rally sharply they will find themselves fluttering gently downward past the threatening Giants. It's a mortal cinch the Dodgers will be ensconced in third place if they do not give better support than they afforded the luckless Dazzy Vance yesterday.

Babe Ruth won for the Yankees over Detroit 6 to 5 by pasting homer No. 43 and later a single in the ninth that broke a tie score.

Indians Walloped

Lefty Grove and Bill Shores, Athletic hurlers, civilized the Indians, 9 to 1 and 7 to 0. Jimmy Dykes' double with three on helped a lot in the finale.

The pitcher-less wonders, the Phillies, dropped two games to the swatting Bucs, 8 to 7 in 14 innings and 8 to 3. Bartell, the Brothers Waner and Traynor captaining the batting forays.

Brown was more effective than Lyons and buried the Senators by a 5 to 4 triumph over the White Sox.

Wee Willie Sherdel was socked aplenty by his old pals and the Cardinals planted it away—St. Louis 4, Boston 2.

Reeves singled with the sacks stuffed in the ninth and the Red Sox topped the Brownies, 5 to 4.

The Giants and Reds idled it.

BEARS FAIL IN STOCK ATTACK

Market Resists Attempt To Lower Prices; Moderate Rally Follows.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—The stock market as a whole resisted the attempts of the bears to force prices to lower levels today, and shortly after the noon period a moderate rally was in force in most of the speculative securities. Professional buying of Warner brothers, on the strength of the new financing plans of a powerful banking group, was seen in the brisk recovery of that stock to above 29. United States Steel was also a factor in the mid-day rally, forging ahead from 153½ to 157¾.

The business and industrial news of the day was unchanged. No further losses were reported in the drought-stricken areas, and there was a further prospect for rain the corn belt.

At the low prices of the day, Bethlehem Steel showed a new loss of 1½ points and a new low for the year at 70½. International Nickel broke through to a new lot at 20⅞ and numerous specialties declined to the lowest levels for the move. Consolidated Gas sold fractionally under 100, and most of the active utility stocks were under fire.

WHEAT VALUES RALLY BRISKLY

Result of Active Buying Developing on Declines; Corn Gains.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 13—Brisk rallies in wheat values took place early today as a result of active buying which developed on declines. Reports of severe damage to wheat crops in France attracted attention, and so too, did apprehension voiced about exceptional delays to fall plowing in the United States on account of soil dryness. Corn also rallied, owing largely to the action of wheat and because of predicted rains failing to appear. Opening unchanged to 1¼c off, wheat later sagged all around, but then scored gains. Corn started ⅝@1⅝c down and subsequently recovered.

Helping, more or less, to stimulate wheat buying at times today, was a statement from an extensive domestic wheat grower who has been in Russia, that a billion bushels of imported wheat would be needed by Russia before her economic plans would be in full swing, meanwhile, complaints of 40 per cent or greater impairment of French wheat crops were emphasized by estimates that 36,000,000 bushels of the total yield in France was unfit for milling, and by indications of liberal overnight export demand from Europe for wheat for North America. Authoritative statements also were current that it would require an unusually large amount of rainfall in the United States now to soften ground so that plowing for winter wheat could start soon enough to ensure fair results.

Corn today, for the first time of late, gave evidence of being subordinate to wheat. Offerings of corn were notably scarce, though, when wheat began to advance, corn promptly responded. Purchasing of corn was somewhat stimulated too by rising temperatures southwest and by chances apparent of a recurrence of excessive heat in the corn belt. It was also asserted that rains hereafter would be of comparatively small value in filling ears, that there would be but little more silking, and therefore only scant further fertilization. Oats rallied with wheat and corn.

Provisions were easy, despite upturns in the value of hogs.

DROUTH AID STEP TAKEN

Slash in Farm Produce Freight Rates First Important Relief Move.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—An immediate 5 per cent slash in railroad freight rates on hay, feed, water and livestock in the drouth areas stood out today as the first large scale action for relief of parched agricultural lands.

Government relief plans meanwhile marked time until tomorrow's conference of governors. President Hoover wants their suggestions and plans before proceeding with any broad relief measures. An idea of what line the governors' recommendations may take came in dispatches from capitals of some of the affected states.

Governor Hammill of Iowa, leaving Des Moines for Washington, said he favored immediate aid to the farmers in need, together with arrangements through the farm board for seed for next year's planting.

In Kentucky, the agricultural branch of the state bankers' association formulated a plan based on underwriting the tax bills of drouth-suffering farmers through federal assistance.

Expectations of relief continued concentrated on government agencies, as weather forecasts, although indicating showers for parts of the dry area, promised no soaking rains.

The railroad rate cuts have been worked out between the roads and the department of agriculture with a safeguarding arrangement by which farmers' applications for special rates will be certified to railroad officials by county agricultural agents. This was done in hope of preventing speculative use of the emergency schedules.

The low rate is to go into effect immediately on roads operating to and from drouth areas north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers. Within a day or two they are expected to be extended to the remainder of the dry regions.

Plan Degree Work—Plans were made for conferring the rank of esquire on a class of candidates at the next meeting in one week, at the meeting of Canby Temple No. 51, Knights of Pythias last night. Routine business was transacted.
